United States To Follow Own Plan For Peace

Will Pursue "Lone Eagle" Neutrality Policy To Stay Out Of War

DIRECT NOTICE IS GIVEN ITALY

Will Seek To Discourage Abnormal War-Profit Trade With Nations At War

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Italy today had direct notice from Secretary of State Cordell Hull that the American government intends to pursue a "lone eagle" neutrality policy in its efforts to keep this country out of Europe's wars.

The American government's position was made plain by Secretary Hull to Italian Ambassador Augusto Rosso at a state department conference.

Hull notified the Italian envoy that this government intends to discourage the development of abnormal war-profit trade with both Italy and Ethiopia irrespective of what Great Britain, France or any other nations do.

Keep U. S. Out Of War

He let the ambassador know the sole object of the American government's neutrality policy was to keep the United States out of war.

Rosso called at the state department to seek information concerning the extent to which this government intended to go in discouraging American trade with Italy in the light of the Anglo-French surprise decision to postpone imposition of a league oil and steel embargo against Italy.

Rosso wanted to know, in effect, whether this government intended to discourage the shipment of oil supplies to Italy irrespective of whether the League of Nations should do likewise. He was informed, in effect, that it did, and that furthermore it would seek to

Claim Makale Is Abandoned

Ethiopians Report Italian Forces Withdraw From Makale

ROME PROMPTLY DENIES REPORT

(International News Service)

ADDIS ABABA, Nov. 27—Citing official sources, the Ethiopian government today claimed that Italian forces had abandoned Makale, strategically important northern front stronghold, and were retreating towards Adigrat.

(Editor's note: The Italian government in Rome promptly and firmly denied the reported evacuation of Makale.)

Reports of the Italian evacuation of Makale, coupled with Ethiopian successes reported from the southern front, caused great optimism in Addis Ababa, where it was freely predicted "many surprises" are in store for the Italians in December.

Ethiopians On Two Fronts.

The entire Ethiopian army will be on the two fronts by next month, it was said in governmental circles, where it was declared the Italian withdrawals on both fronts brought the Italians back to the same positions they held soon after the war started.

The government's circumstantial account of the evacuation of Makale was as follows:

"The garrison, of 1,000 men, hurriedly evacuated the city yesterday with tanks, guns and stores."

"Trucks and soldiers filed along the track back to Adigrat.

"One native officer with 12 askaris reportedly surrendered to Ras Seyum (Ethiopian northern commander). This officer attributed the sudden Italian set-back to overhastiness of the Italian advance, declaring it was a mistake not to have cleared the surrounding country to secure communications before advancing so far as Makale."

Rockview Convict Makes His Getaway

(International News Service)

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Nov. 27.—Slipping away from his guards, while working in the prison creamery, Chester Robinson, 24, of Tioga county, escaped from Rockview penitentiary today and headed toward Spring Creek, several miles south of here.

Robinson, serving a two to four year term for larceny, apparently had walked unchallenged from the prison farm property.

Street Fighting In Rio De Janeiro Develops During Day

REPORT REBELS ARE IN FLIGHT

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

RIO DE JANEIRO, Nov. 27.—Revolt against the government of President Getulio Vargas broke out in two points in Rio De Janeiro today as the Communist-aided rebellion of certain army factions spread to the capital from the northern provinces.

Loyal troops immediately launched an attack upon the Rio rebels, comprising two infantry battalions and a group of sergeants of the government's military aviation school, and a few hours later the government announced the insurrectionists had been suppressed and the situation was well in hand.

While bitter fighting was going on in the streets of the capital, the rebels were reported fleeing from Pernambuco but still holding Natal, in the north.

California Couples Will Hurry To Reno, Will Then Exchange Wives

(International News Service)

REEDWOOD CITY, Cal., Nov. 27—Two prominent young Redwood City couples have set out for Reno to obtan divorces which will enable them to exchange mates.

The couples are Mr. and Mrs. William Werder and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burnett.

Werder, 26, is a former Stanford University broad jumper, and manager of an oil station here. His wife is the former Desiree Heydenfelt, member of a pioneer California family. They married in 1932 and have a 3 months old daughter, Betty Lou.

Burnett, 24, is a former third base man for the San Jose Teachers' college and local agent for an Oil company. His wife, Gladys is 20. They were married last year.

Close friends for some time, the young couples agreed to exchange husbands and wives following discovery each was in love with the mate of the other, and set out together in an automobile for the divorce capital of the West.

The young husbands will return here after establishing their wives in a Reno hotel. When the wives have remained in Reno the customary six weeks,' residence period, divorce complaints will be filed and wedding bells will follow.

Japanese Troops Seize Control Of China R. R. Points

Virtual Control Of North China Railways Is Taken By Japanese

PRO-JAP STATE IS LIKELY SOON

Japanese Troops Roll Into North China By Thousands Today

PEIPING, Nov. 27.—Japanese troops seized virtual control of North China's railways today as political events pointed to early proclamation of a two-state pro-Japanese autonomy federation divorced from the Chinese central government at Nanking.

All indications were that Chahar and Hopei provinces, two of the five originally scheduled to secede from Nanking to please the Japanese army, would certainly be established as pro-Japanese autonomous states.

Occupy Strategic Positions

Japanese troops rolled into North China today by the thousands, occupying strategic positions around Peiping and Tientsin and at Great Wall Gates.

Seizing control of strategic railway points, Japanese troops occupied the station of Fengtai, 12 miles south of here, and later occupied the Changyimen station only 300 yards outside Peiping's southern gate. Other moves were undertaken to place control of the railways in the hands of the Japanese army.

Governor Shang Chen resigned as head of Hopei province, indicating the state would soon declare itself pro-Japanese.

Governor Sung Chueh Yuan, whose sympathies have remained in doubt, telegraphed Nanking refusing his appointment as pacification commissioner in the troubled area. It was reported, and denied, that Sung was conferring daily with Major Kenji Doihara, representative of the Japanese army.

FRANCE BATTLES FOR GOLD BASIS

Ballots Cast In Recent Election Counted By Tellers This Morning

RE-ELECT TRIO FROM OLD BOARD

Five directors were elected by the New Castle Credit Exchange for a three-year term, at the annual election which was held during the past week. Ballots were cast during the week by the members, which were counted this morning.

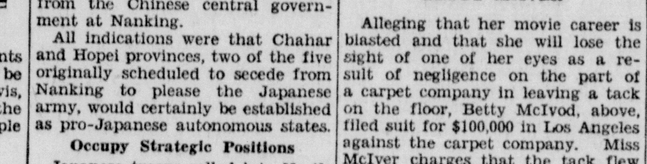

Those who were named to the board were: Fred L. Rentz, J. R. Rick, C. D. Parker, Chester Reynolds and T. E. Chambers. Messrs Rentz, Rick and Parker were former members of the board.

It had been intended to have the election take place at a dinner meeting last week, but because of several unforseen circumstances which developed during the week, the meeting was called off and the election was conducted by mail.

CITY PREPARES FOR

THANKSGIVING DAY

From the White House to the lowliest home in the nation, tomorrow means but one thing, Thanksgiving. Whether the meal will be roast turkey, or breast of guinea under glass, or the cheap cut of boiling meat, it means the same thing for all of us have something to be thankful for.

Homecomings, reunions, family dinners, church services, football games, theatres, dances, parties, all of them have their place in the schedule of the day's events with each of them drawing their share of attention.

Football Locally

In the sport world the game between New Castle and Sharon on Taggart field on Thursday afternoon is the dessert for the family dinner at noon, or the appetizer for the evening dinner whichever you happen to be doing.

Many of the churches have services planned for the morning, and the college students are already pouring back into the city for the holiday with the folks.

The public schools dismiss this afternoon for the balance of the week, city and county government offices will be closed all day, many of the industries have a holiday and for one day there will be little work done.

No Snow Likely

Some plan to go into Pittsburgh to see Pitt and Tech battle it out for the city championship; theatres here will be crowded to the doors, it is anticipated, and the outlook is for the best Thanksgiving Day in several years.

One thing will be missing for an old time Thanksgiving and that will be the "white and drifting snow" you used to sing about in kindergarten. There won't be any sleigh riding but the highways will hum with the roar of motors of cars heading back to the folks for the Thanksgiving holiday.

It promises to be a good Thanksgiving. And out of the time you will take for eating turkey, seeing a show or cheering a football team, take a minute or two and offer thanks for the blessings you have.

Latest Baby Lindbergh Kidnap Story Collapses

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Nov. 27. — Another ephemeral "solution" of the baby Lindbergh kidnap-murder case collapsed today while the convicted killer of the child paced his deathhouse cell in Trenton, N. J., after challenging Dr. J. F. ("Jafsie") Condon to "make a full confession".

Blasting reports that lumber closely resembling that from which the famous kidnap ladder was constructed had been found in a cottage at Ashby, Mass., the cottage owner revealed his home had not been built until the fall of 1932—months after the child was snatched from its crib at Hopewell, N. J.

Members of the family of Lawrence Yont, the cottage owner, further said the lumber for the home had been purchased from a dealer at West Townsend who said he dealt in nothing but native stock.

Mystery still shrouded identity of alleged "investigators" for the Hauptmann defense from whom the

President Prepares For Thanksgiving Day

(International News Service)

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 27—The "Little White House" at Warm Springs, was without official visitors today for the first time since Sunday, as President Franklin D. Roosevelt awaited the arrival here of Mrs. Roosevelt and their eldest son James for a partial family reunion around the Thanksgiving table.

Although nearly three days devoted to a discussion of next year's budget came to a close yesterday with the departure of secretary of the Treasury Morganthau, house appropriations chairman Buchanan and acting budget Director Bell, the administration's estimate of national expenses for 1936-37 still remained a mystery.

Mr. Roosevelt said some very big savings approximating $400,000,000 already had been made on the normal budget as distinguished from emergency needs. He declined, however, to compare Warm Springs budget-paring activities with actual figures for the current fiscal year. The $400,000,000, it appeared, had been carved from the original estimates put in by the respective federal departments and agencies.

LONG SESSION OF LEGISLATURE NOW FORECAST

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 27—Broadened by implication if not by formal outline, the scope of the forthcoming special session of the legislature appeared today to be threatening an extended meeting of the general assembly that might last anywhere from one to two months.

Political observers who ventured this opinion envisioned it in Gov. George H. Earle's own statement that he might add constitutional revision, or amendment, to his session call as a result of the supreme court's nullification of the graduated state income tax act. In a less tangible form, it was seen also in the general Republican determination to "fight every inch of the way" against administration measures the G. O. P. has consistently opposed.

January 27 or the first Monday in February were the most likely dates for the session to convene, informed sources seemed to have agreed but for the answer to the current question of "how long will it last?" they preferred to point to the factors involved and permit individuals to do their own figuring.

JAFSIE SCORNS TO MAKE REPLY TO HAUPTMANN

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's death house plea that Dr. John F. ("Jafsie") Condon "make a full confession" received a scornful reply today from the celebrated Bronx school master who acted as intermediary in the Lindbergh kidnaping.

But the elderly educator, ever the enigma, phrased his answer in such curious language that few, if any, could understand it.

Hauptmann's painfully scrawled plea for a "confession" from Jafsie charged:

"He is holding the key in this case and the key of my cell."

Condon replied:

"I am amazed at this. It's ridiculous. I don't believe he said any such thing. I may hold many keys, but I will not talk about them."

His eyes twinkling under his great bushy eyebrows, Jafsie refused to say another word.

Wm. A. Taylor Dies Suddenly

Widely Known Citizen Drops Dead On Lincoln Avenue At Noon

William A. Taylor, aged 64, of 310 East Leasure avenue, prominent local tailor, and well known in Masonic circles, died suddenly at 12:15 this afternoon, being stricken with an acute heart attack as he was walking along Lincoln avenue, across from the Cathedral.

Thomas W. Cox and Lawrence Cox, of the Wilmington road, who were driving along Lincoln avenue, noticed Mr. Taylor stagger and fall, and went to his assistance. He was carried into the home of John H. Lamb, of 111 Lincoln avenue, and a physician was summoned, who pronounced him dead.

Mr. Taylor was born January 14, 1871. He had been a resident of New Castle for many years. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Bella A. Taylor, and one daughter, Miss Charlottee Taylor, a member of the Senior high school faculty.

Mrs. Taylor had been in Pittsburgh where she was serving on the federal grand jury and was notified of his death this afternoon.

He was a member of Lodge of the Craft, No. 433, F. and A. M. and

START DRIVE TO FORCE PAYMENT OF COURT COSTS

Out of the district attorney's office today is going a batch of mail addressed to citizens who have run afoul of the law in the past few months. The letters contain invitations to the persons in question to come up and see the judges on Thursday, December 5 and explain why they have not paid the costs in cases in which they have been involved.

Among them are several who were upon numbers charges. Others include the various misdemeanors in the criminal code. In the event they do not accept the invitations a process will be issued and they will be brought in.

Whether or not they pay the costs or serve jail sentences for failure to do so is within the province of the court.

Many Services Are Scheduled For Thursday

Downtown Thanksgiving Service In First Presbyterian Church

DR. C. B. WINGERD TO BE SPEAKER

Numerous Other Services To Take Place In City And County

Thanksgiving, that distinctly American holiday which has for generations stirred the hearts of citizens on this continent, is not to go unobserved in the New Castle churches.

Elaborate programs have been arranged for union services tonight and tomorrow morning in various parts of the city and county.

Union Service

Many of the downtown and North Hill congregations are planning to unite in a service at 10 a. m. Thursday in the First Presbyterian church, corner of North Jefferson and West Falls streets.

For this service Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, has been selected by a special committee of the New Castle Ministerial Association to be the speaker. He has chosen for his subject, "Blessings Old, Modern and New."

Dr. John J. McIlvaine, pastor of the church, announces that Thomas H. Webber, Jr., will present a special organ recital as a part of a musical program which will include a selection by the church quartet and a solo number by Monus Harlan. This program follows:

Prelude, "Allegro," by Handel, "Pastorale," by Clokey, and "Prelude," by Corelli—Thomas H. Webber, Jr., organist.

SENATOR BORAH READY TO THROW HIS HAT IN RING

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Senator William E. Borah, who has all but thrown his Idaho sombrero into the ring by saying it may be "assumed" that he is a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, plans to open his campaign early next month.

His opening thrust will be a speech broadcast over an extensive national radio hook-up, and his subject will be that much-debated economic question: "Purchasing Power." It offers the Idahoan almost limitless scope to discuss the principles involved in the AAA, the NRA, tariffs, taxes, or whatnot.

Arthur Mometer

No matter how much or how little you have, no matter your score in the banks, whatever you are and whoever you are, you've something for which to give thanks. You lost in the market, well who didn't lose, but you still have your shirt and your health, and there's many a chap who would trade you at that, and give you the most of his wealth, if he could sit down and go after a steak, and know that his heal was secure, for the wealth of good health is the only true one, and without health the wealthy are poor. So bow down your head and offer up thanks, you have blessings and friends by the score, look around you a bit and you'll see for yourself, the weather is wet, forty four.

NEW DEAL NEAR CLIMAX

Court Decisions On Issues Soon

Expect At Least Four Cases To Be Decided In January

MANY POLICIES ARE AT STAKE

By WILLIAM S. NEARL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27—The supreme court battle on constitutionality of major Roosevelt administration measures moved swiftly toward a climax with decisions in four vital cases likely in January.

The decisions may not only shake the foundations of the administration's farm relief and power programs, but may force congress to spend months framing new laws.

Expect Decisions

The cases on which decisions are expected, possibly on January 13, are.

1. The Hoosac Mills case, involving constitutionality of the original AAA and processing taxes. To be argued December 9.

2. Lee Moor case, in which the court may decide constitutionality of the Bankhead Compulsory Cotton Control act. To be argued about December 11. Court might act on jurisdictional questions alone.

3. Ashwander case in which the late Federal Judge Grubb of Birminghant, Ala., held the Tennessee Valley Authority act unconstitutional as to sale of surplus power. To be argued December 16.

4. Rice Millers case, in which the court may rule on constitutionality of amended AAA, which became effective last August 24; and validity of provisions prohibiting injunction against tax collections and requiring processors to show taxes were not passed on to public before refunds could be obtained.

Strategy Shattered

The court, by the extraordinary action of granting a temporary injunction against collection of rice processing taxes shattered the legal strategy of the government.

Administration legal experts had fought for a decision on the original AAA before the court acted on the amended AAA—which was supposed to have remedied defects in the original law.

Under this plan, unless the court's decision was sweeping in character, the AAA could continue to operate under the amended law if the original law were thrown out. Meantime a new farm scheme could be sought.

But by setting the rice case for December 16 the court made probable decisions on the same day on the original and amended AAA laws. In one sweep the court may uphold the administration or may topple its whole farm program to the ground.

Should the decision be unfavorable, the administration might be faced with the situation which followed the court's scuttling of the NRA, when high legal experts said it would take months of study before a substitute could be framed.

shaped invasion. Italian operations since then have been directed toward straightening out a line east and west of Makale, but have encountered difficulties by the presence of Ras Seyum and 20,000 men entrenched securely in the Tembien mountain region northwest of Makale.

The position of Ras Seyum and his men apparently was referred to in the remark about clearing the surrounding country.

The route on the southern front was reported yesterday in governmental advices stating Ras Desta Demtu, son-in-law of the emperor, had driven back the Italians in confusion and penetrated far into Italian Somaliland in a counter-invasion.

The Italians were reported in these advices to have evacuated Gerlogubi and Gorrahei and retreated to the positions they held at the outbreak of the war.

Today Addis Ababa received a detailed account of this action, revealing Ethiopian warriors now were only 150 miles from Mogadiscio, chief city of the colony located on the coast.

Economy Drive Is Forecasted

Congressional Economy Drive Opens As Budget Making Time Arrives

HEARINGS WILL START MONDAY

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—A congressional economy drive of far-reaching proportions was forecast today as House appropriation subcommittees made plans to begin preparation of the big annual budget bills.

The first step in the movement will be taken Monday when the sub-committee in charge of framing the annual two-billion-dollar treasury-post office bill begins hearings.

Another sub-committee will start work on the billion-dollar independent federal establishments bills, and other groups will follow with hearings designed to make possible congressional action on money bills early in January.

Confers with Roosevelt

Chairman James P. Buchanan (D) of Texas, now conferring with President Roosevelt at Warm Springs, Ga., is said to have been pledged the support of a majority of the powerful committee in his drive toward a balanced budget.

Rep. Ludlow (D) of Indiana, chairman of the sub-committee which opens hearings Monday, promised a determined effort to pare expenditures.

"I think the chairman outlined what is going to be the policy of the committee," said Ludlow. "I think we are going to make a determined effort to cut expenses. I agree with the chairman that the only way to do it is to begin now."

MANY SERVICES ARE SCHEDULED FOR THURSDAY

Postlude in G, by Guilmant—Thomas H. Webber, Jr., organist.

The service will include scripture lesson, reading of the President's Thanksgiving Proclamation, a hymn offering, offertory solo and the sermon.

Trinity Episcopal

Trinity Episcopal church, corner of Highland avenue and East Falls street, has planned its own Thanksgiving Day observance.

The rector, Rev. Philip C. Pearson, will conduct two services—at 7:30 and 10 a. m. A splendid musical program by the choir, led by Frank Fuller, organist and choirmaster of St. John's church, of Youngstown, O., has been arranged for the 10 o'clock service, with Miss Isabel T. Johnson, at the piano.

Welsh Churches

Services morning and evening Thursday are planned by the two Welsh congregations, the Emmanuel Baptist and First Congregational, at the latter church. They will be at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. with the pastor of the First Congregational church, Rev. Rees T. Williams, presiding.

Holiness Union

Congregations which are members of the New Castle Holiness Union (including the Free Methodist and Nazarene churches of the community) will gather Thanksgiving morning at 10 o'clock in the Primitive Methodist church, South Mill and Maitland streets. The guest preacher will be Rev. H. A. Handy, pastor of the First Friend's church, Alliance, O., according to an announcement from Rev. Harold Sutton, Primitive Methodist church pastor. There will be special music furnished by Rev. F. C. Lehman and family of the Church of the Nazarene. The offering taken at this service will be given to the needy.

East Side Service

East Side churches are combining in a service tonight at Epworth M. E church, corner of East Washington street and Butler avenue. The speaker is to be Third U. P.'s new pastor, Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates. A splendid program, with selections by a combined choir of 45 voices has been arranged.

Seventh Ward Services

Seventh Ward congregations will gather in the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church Thursday morning at 10 o'clock and the new pastor of the Mahoningtown M. E. church, Rev. C. H. Hagadorn, will bring the Thanksgiving message.

At Center U. P.

Another service planned for tonight will be that at the Center United Presbyterian church in which Slippery Rock Presbyterian, Harmony Baptist, Greenwood M. E., Castlewood Christian and Missionary Alliance, Savannah M. E. and Calvary Presbyterian congregations are participating. This service will open at 8 o'clock and the sermon will be delivered by Rev. S. L. Cobb of the Harmony Baptist church. It promises to attract a capacity crowd.

Union Baptist

Union Baptist church will have its own Thursday service at 11 a. m. with a message by the pastor, Rev. C. D. Henderson, and a short program of music by the choir. Other colored people's churches are likewise planning observances.

Service At East Brook

The East Brook community will join with members of the East Brook Methodist, Rich Hill Presbyterian, East Brook and Neshannock U. P. churches in a Thanksgiving service tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Neshannock U. P. church. Richard Patterson will be guest soloist and Rev. James M. Guthrie will bring a brief message. There will be special music by the choir.

Early Morning Fast

A special fast and prayer service will be held at the local Wesleyan Methodist church, Lyndal street, at 6 o'clock, Thanksgiving morning.

This service is being held in conjunction with many other similar services being held in Wesleyan churches all over the United States at the same hour to pray for a connectional revival.

KILLS DAUGHTER ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

(International News Service)

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., Nov. 27.—Hospital physicians today strove to defeat the attempt of a mother to join in death a daughter she is alleged to have slain because she "did not want anyone else to have her."

Condition of the mother, Mrs. Virginia Pettitt, 30, was said not to be serious after administration of an antidote to poison taken after, police said, she drowned her five-year-old daughter Lucille, in the bathtub of her home.

Her husband, Andrew Pettit, 34, a mechanic, professed complete mystification over the tragedy, saying his sole explanation was that his wife had been brooding recently. Pettitt found his wife weeping on a bed and the body of his daughter, hands bound and her head enshrouded in a blanket, in the bathtub when he returned from work.

discourage any abnormal increase in the shipment to either of the belligerents of materials which could be turned quickly into war supplies.

Cardinal Feature

This idea of discouraging what is regarded as "blood money" trade with warring nations promised to become a cardinal feature of the administration's neutrality policy. It was considered likely to figure prominently in the neutrality legislation which the administration intends to seek from the next session of congress.

Meanwhile, there were persistent reports that the administration was barking much louder than it was biting in connection with efforts to prevent oil shipments to Italy. One report, which official quarters refused either to confirm or deny, had it that, at the suggestion of President Roosevelt, the state department did not intend to bring any further pressure to bear to prevent the American Oil tanker's ship, the Ulysses, from sailing with a large shipment of oil to Italy.

A large gathering of friends was present on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when funeral services for Mrs. Nellie Schefnocker, widow of J. Winfield Schefnocker, were conducted from the residence, 803 Canyon street. The Rev. Dr. S. E. Irvine, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church, was in charge. There were many beautiful flowers.

Pallbearers were Howard Geary, C. D. Bennett, J. T. Llewellyn, Hugh McDonald, C. T. Miller and Charles Rohrer. Interment was made in Graceland cemetery.

William Warwick Chambers

The death of William Warwick Chambers, aged 30 years, in the New Castle hospital this morning, comes as a shock to the North Beaver township community where he had made his home and to his friends in New Castle.

Mr. Chambers underwent an operation on Sunday afternoon shortly after he had been admitted to the hospital. Peritonitis set in and death came today at 6:20 a. m.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lillian Smith Chambers; one little son, John William Chambers, and his parents, Rev. Dr. W. A. and Margaret Steel Chambers, all of North Beaver township. A sister, Mrs. Thomas Maloney, of New York City, also survives.

Mr. Chambers attended W. and J. college, at Washington, Pa., and the University of Pittsburgh, at Pittsburgh. He had been assisting his father, during the past several years, in operating a fruit farm.

The body is being removed to the Mahoning funeral home, this city, where the family will meet friends Thursday afternoon and evening.

Funeral services will be conducted from the funeral home Friday at 3 p. m., with Dr. C. K. McGeorge, pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church, in charge. Interment will be made in Valley View cemetery.

Vincenzo DeGregorio.

Vincenzo DeGregorio, aged 71 years, died at his residence, 911 South Mercer street, at 5:10 a. m. today after an illness of only ten days.

He was born in Italy on July 14, 1864, son of Fillipo and Paleria Adamo DeGregorio. He had resided in New Castle for the past 37 years and was a pensioned employe of the Carnegie Steel Company.

He was a member of St. Vitus church, the Holy Name Society and the King Humbert Society.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary DeGregorio, two sons, Ralph DeGregorio, of Marlboro, Mass., and Louis DeGregory, of 516 Electric St., New Castle, one daughter, Mrs. Pearl Rizzo, of Marlboro, Mass., three grandchildren, three sisters, Mrs. Mary Mainolfi, in Italy, Mrs. Concetta DeCarbo and Mrs. Sam Cioffi, of New Castle, and one brothers Frank DeGregorio, of Williamsport, Pa.

Requiem mass will be celebrated Saturday morning, in St. Vitus church and interment will be made in St. Vitus cemetery.

The hour of the mass will be announced on Friday.

Rev. Fr. Henke Funeral Time.

Over a hundred priests from the surrounding territory will be in New Castle on Friday for the obsequies which are to be conducted in memory of Rev. Fr. Alfred L. Henke, assistant pastor of St. Vitus church, who died yesterday morning.

Today and tomorrow the body of the young priest will lie in state at the rectory of St. Vitus church. At 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon it will be removed to the church, accompanied by a procession of priests and altar boys, and on Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock the Office of the Dead will be started, followed by solemn requiem mass at 10 o'clock.

Rev. Fr. DeMita, pastor of St. Vitus church, will be celebrant of the mass; Rev. Fr. William Galvin of St. Mary's church will be deacon; Rev. Fr. Francis Stifter, chaplain of the New Castle hospital, will be subdeacon, and Rev. Fr. A. P. Scholz, pastor of St. Margaret's church, will be master of ceremonies.

After the mass the body will be taken to Carnegie, Pa., where further services at 9:30 a. m. Saturday are being arranged by the priests of Rev. Fr. Henke's own parish. Interment will be made in the family lot at Carnegie.

Father Henke's mother, Mrs. Theresa Henke, is believed near death in her home on Ellsworth avenue, Heidelberg, where she has been bedfast since she suffered a stroke 16 months ago, and has not been informed of his death.

Besides his mother he leaves three sisters, Mrs. August Schmidt of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Fred Kline and Mrs. Paul Krampe, both of Chicago, and four brothers, Anthony J., Harry, William and Joseph Henke.

Mrs. Annie Taylor Funeral.

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Taylor, wife of Thomas Taylor, of Cleveland, O., were conducted Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Second Baptist church, this city, with the pastor, Rev. W. W. Nelson, in charge, assisted by Rev. L. J. Pollard, of this city.

Rev. Nelson paid tribute to the Christian character of the deceased woman. Several request solos were sung during the rites.

Pallbearers were G. F. Brown, A. Eggleston, M. Mann, J. Anderson, Nora Coles, and Charles Robison. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

Frank M. Clark.

Frank M. Clark, aged 65 years, of North Beaver township, near Bessemer, died in the Jameson Memorial hospital on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. Clark was born on June 19, 1870. He is survived by his wife and the following sons and daughters, George Clark, in Texas, Roy Clark, of Duncan, Oklahoma; Walter Clark, of Bessemer, Lester and Ray Clark, of Swissvale, Pa., Mrs. Clara Chase, of Spring Harbor, Mich., Mrs. Marrian Morris, of New Castle, Miss Lillains Clark, of Swissvale, and Mrs. Hazel Shelar, of New Castle. Also surviving are twenty-six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Mr. Clark had been in the oil business in this section for several years.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home of Walter Clark, Bessemer, on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Rev. W. J. Engle, pastor of the Bessemer Presbyterian church, in charge. Interment will be made in Lowellville cemetery.

Wife Of Autenreith Store President Dies

E. S. Dickinson, manager of the Autenreith store in this city, received a message from Pittsburgh, this morning notifying him of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Autenreith, aged 26, wife of President Paul Autenreith of the Autenreith company. Mrs. Autenreith was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Searies of Pittsburgh, and had a number of friends in New Castle. Funeral services Friday, November 29 at 2 p. m.

Grove City Man Attempts Suicide

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 27.—Water running continually in a hotel room today attracted the attention of a maid.

She unlocked the door and found L. W. Townsend of Grove City, critically wounded, a bullet through his head. Police found several notes addressed to his mother, wife and children, and were investigating a suicide theory.

MR. AND MRS. ARROTT TO RESIDE IN BEAVER

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Arrott will live in Beaver after their return from a wedding trip to Virginia Beach.

The bride, who was the former Carolyn-Clare Snow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Blaine Snow, of Pittsburgh, was lovely for her wedding which took place Saturday evening at 6:30 in the Twentieth Century club, Pittsburgh. She wore her mother's wedding dress of pale ivory satin, with yoke of rose point lace, sleeves puffed at the elbow and a triple train of ivory satin, lace and taffeta. Her veil was of tulle and she carried a prayer book with a marker of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Leonora Bothwell was maid of honor, wearing gold plaited taffeta. The bridesmaids, Daria Kelly and Florence Arrott, wore green taffeta and carried fans ornamented with flowers. Charles F. Arrott, brother of the groom, was best man and the ushers were T. King McCreery, Dr. A. J. McAdams and Leland Leonard McGraw.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. Robert Nelson Meade, of the Church of the Redeemer. Several New Castle people were among the large number of guests.

LUNCHEON FEATURES AFTERNOON CLUB MEET

A prettily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon, marked the gathering of Thursday Afternoon Club associates yesterday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. Frank Coen on the State road. Seasonal appointments were cleverly used in her table decorations, and places were set for the usual number of associates, and three guests, Mrs. James Tucker, Mrs. G. W. Longwell and Mrs. Bruce Miller.

Prizes for card honors, were carried off by Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. William Hammil. Throughout the afternoon, the hostess had as her aides, Mesdames Longwell and Tucker.

Their next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Harry McClintock, Highland avenue, Thursday, December 12.

Dinner At Taylor Home

A family dinner is planned for Thanksgiving Day at the home of Mrs. Alice Taylor, West Madison avenue, to be served at the noon hour.

Past President's Club

The Past President's Club will have dinner at 6:30 p. m. today in a downtown restaurant.

CATHEDRAL CHAPTER HAS PAST MATRONS NIGHT

Cathedral Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, party in observance of their past matrons night program, held Tuesday evening in the east lodge room of the Cathedral, was an unqualified success. The decorations of the lodge room were suggestive of the season and homecoming of all the past matrons, who were Mrs. Lillian Templeton, Mildred Updegraff, Mrs. Edith DeArment, Mrs. Olive Hewitt and Mrs. Edna West. Each was presented with a beautiful gift from the chapter by Mrs. Emma Leslie, associate matron.

Mrs. I. M. Henley, worthy matron, touched the assemblage deeply with her gracious greetings to the different groups, which were much appreciated. The special guests were matrons of the district, including Mrs. Grace Crawford of New Castle Chapter 105 and Mrs. Lois Martin Shrefler of Shenango Chapter No. 333.

Frank Goodwin, worthy patron, was honored by having James Forbes, asosciate grand patron; Henry Jackson of New Castle chapter, and Orville Brown of Shenango chapter to assist him in putting on the ritualistic work.

Mrs. Lucy Round, district deputy grand matron, was made an honorary member of the local chapter at this meeting. She responded most beautifully with remarks of appreciation.

The impressive closing will long be remembered by those in attendance, when Marshal Olive Fern Sanford, under the direction of the worthy matron, expressed the Thanksgiving wish for all present, at the altar. Miss Anna Patterson played appropriate musical selections throughout the evening.

Mrs. Hilma Bergman, Mrs. Julia Conover and Mrs. Ruth Gee served seasonal refreshments at the prettily appointed tables in the west dining room as the concluding feature.

Oyster Supper

A savory oyster supper was a distinct pleasure for members of the G. K. W. Club Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. L. C. Burry, on Greenwood avenue. It followed an informal evening of cards, and aides in serving were Mrs. John Frampton and the hostess' daughter, Mrs. Smith.

Plans were made for the club's Christmas party which will be in the form of a tureen dinner on December 17, in the home of Mrs. J. M. Edwards, Garfield avenue. Gifts will be exchanged as a feature of the meeting.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE FOR MRS. TUCKER

Mrs. Frank Mayers of Scott street was hostess Tuesday evening to the O. U. Society of the Central Presbyterian church in honor of the birthday of her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Tucker, a member of the society.

Taken to her mother's home by a relative, Mrs. Tucker was agreeably surprised to find upon arrival that a large group of her associates was assembled to help celebrate. They showered her with lovely gifts and then spent the remaining hours informally playing games. A tempting lunch was served by Mrs. Mayers, assisted by Mrs. H. W. McConnell.

On Friday, Dec. 13, the O. U. Society will have a special Christmas service in the home of Mrs. Leonard Campbell, Crawford avenue.

TUESDAY KENSINGTON THANKSGIVING DINNER

In the Park avenue home of Mrs. Rebecca Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Kelly, were hosts Tuesday evening, to members of the Tuesday kensington and the husbands for a 6:30 dinner.

An elaborate menu was served at attractively appointed tables, the committee consisting of Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. J. Q. L. Roberts, Mrs. Charles T. Metzler, Mrs. Daniel Kennedy, Mrs. Stanley Treser and Mrs. Eliza Rounds. There were covers for 28 guests.

In the evening, the group had fun with a variety of games and a delightful feature was the presentation of a handsome gift to Mr. and Mrs. William Sterling in honor of their wedding anniversary.

On December 10, the club will have a Christmas party in the home of Mrs. J. Q. L. Roberts, on Park avenue.

THANKSGIVING PARTY FOR WHYLE-AWAY CLUB

One of the loveliest parties of the Thanksgiving season, was that held Tuesday afternoon by the Whyle-Away club members, in the home of Mrs. Jack Melvin, Sumner avenue, the occasion taking the form of a 1:30 o'clock luncheon. A delicious menu was served at a table beautifully appointed with the seasons suggestions, the center being banked entirely with lucious fruit, surrounding glowing candles which added to the attractiveness. Unique hand made Puritan dolls surmounted red apples, which marked each place.

After partaking of the tasty menu, bridge held attention with prizes falling to Mrs. John Morgan and Mrs. T. L. Olin. Mrs. Jack Melvin captured the galloping prize.

A short business period followed, when plans were completed for their annual Christmas party, in December with husbands as guests. Full details will be announced at a later date. Their next regular session is scheduled for December 12, with Mrs. A. Klingensmith on Highland avenue, hostess. On this occasion, the members will exchange Yuletide packages.

A. A. G. Club

At the home of Dorothy Hay, the A. A. G. Club held their weekly meeting Monday evening, with all members present.

After the business session, in which plans were made for a pajama party and identification bracelets, the girls spent a period knitting. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her sister.

The next meeting will take place December 9, at the home of Anita Lewis.

Seventy-Fourth Birthday

A group of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. R. B. Proctor, on Bell avenue, Monday, to help celebrate the 74th birthday of Mrs. Emma Rigby. A delicious dinner was served at a table centered by a large birthday cake. Among those present were Mrs. George T. Ryan and son, Junior.

Hadassah Victory Tea Closes Membership Drive

Last night, at Temple Israel, New Castle Chapter of Hadassah terminated its whirlwind membership campaign, climaxing it with a Victory Membership Tea which attracted guests numbering over two-hundred.

It was one of the most successful events ever undertaken, victorious from the standpoint of the unusually large assemblage of Seniors and Juniors, and guests who were present.

Testifying further to the complete success of this function, was the announcement by the membership chairman, Mrs. L. Zieve, of the names of the new members secured. These were later asked to rise, and introduced.

Mrs. L. Groden, president, presided over the brief business session, which preceded the fine program arranged for this annual event. Mrs. L. Sandler, program chairman, took charge of the entertainment introducing Mrs. L. F. Kohn, honorary president, who in turn presented the guest speaker, Mrs. I. B. Kreimer of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Kreimer is a young woman who has made her influence felt in the cultural work of her own chapter, heading all the study groups in Pittsburgh, as well as the study groups under Hadassah, throughout Western Pennsylvania. She summarized Hadassah work and growth, from its inception in 1911, up to the present time, stressing particularly, the projective building of Hadassah University Hospital on Mt. Scopus in Jerusalem. She spoke of the new project called the "Youth Immigration Movement" which Hadassah is planning to undertake at the forthcoming convention in Cleveland, O., over Thanksgiving week-end which many of the local members are attending. The speaker concluded her interesting talk with an earnest membership appeal.

"To Be Or Not To Be A Member Of Hadassah" was the title of a humorous playlet cleverly produced by members of the local Hadassah unit, in three scenes under the guidance of Tillie Solomon. Those taking character parts were; Betty Gillman, Gertrude Falls, Claire and Irene Schiffman, Rose and Jane Solomon, Esther Fishkin and Tillie Solomon.

A musical trio composed of Mrs. James Stone, Hazel Louise Campbell and Ruth Weir, was introduced by Mrs. Eliah Kaplan, chairman of music. They sang beautifully, three selections entitled "Good Night Beloved", "Rain", and "The American Lullaby." Their numbers were well received by the assemblage. Mrs. Kathryn Nessle Allen accompanied them at the piano.

Following the entertainment, the guests were all invited to the large tea table, beautifully appointed in blue and white tones, combined with adornments suggestive of the season. Lighted blue and white candles reflected the colorful arrangement of dainty delicacies served, and the bouquets of autumn flowers. Chairman of the hospitality committee, Mrs. A. Fisher and her assistant, Mrs. Edelstein were in charge, having as aides, the following hostesses; Mesdames A. I. Wachs, Gordon Stone, H. Robins, J. Grossman, I. Meyers, N. Rosen, H. Pitnoff, M. Davis, D. Silverman, M. Schoenberger, L. Rosenberg and William Cosel.

Year books were distributed by the program committee, outlining the work planned for the entire year.

Assisting the chairman with the arrangements, were; Mesdames Edelstein, D. Tobin, N. Love, Edward Master, A. Shapiro, L. F. Kohn, Leonard Groden and J. Silverman.

PHOTOGRAPHY FEATURES GARDEN CLUB PROGRAM

A delicious one o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. Lillian Johns, opened the November meeting of the East Brook Garden club, Tuesday afternoon. Appointments in keeping with the season were used and the hostess was assisted in serving by her mother, Mrs. T. C. Armstrong and Mrs. Norma Marlin.

During the business meeting following, the nominating committee presented these names to fill offices for the coming year; president, Mrs. Ida Robinson; first vice, Mrs. Martha Young; second vice, Mrs. Della Kelly; recording secretary, Mrs. Merle Stetson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ruby Wilson; treasurer, Mrs. Edna Kennedy. This slate was elected without opposition, and installation will take place at the December meeting.

The program for the afternoon was directed by Mrs. Louisa Black. The aim was in the form of a picture contest of photographs of the members' gardens and garden subjects. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Elizabeth Guthrie and Mrs. Louise Black, these prizes to consist of enlargements of the winning pictures.

Favorite photo subjects were given in answer to roll call. Mrs. Norma Marlin gave quite an interesting paper on "History of Gardening", telling many instructive facts regarding the origin and improvement of gardening from the most primitive times down through the ages to present day gardens.

The December meeting will be held on the 31st at the home of Mrs. Martha Young. This will be in the form of the annual Christmas party with an exchange of gifts taking place, after a tureen dinner. Special guests yesterday were; Mrs. T. C. Armstrong, of New Castle, and Mrs. Harold G. Allen, of East Brook.

J. F. F. MEMBERS MEET AT McCARTNEY HOME

Mrs. Harold McCartney of Mt. Jackson, entertained informally on Tuesday evening, members of the J. F. F. Club, at a special party, the occasion being a means of completing plans for their holiday gathering. This year, their Yule celebration is to be held on Thursday December 12, at the Castleton, and will take the form of a dinner affair. Gifts will be exchanged in addition to a session of card playing.

Chat and music were the diversions of the remaining hours. The serving of a dainty collation by the hostess concluded activities, and she had as her aide, Helen Brown. Green and white tones prevailed in the attractive table arrangements the menu being enjoyed by candle light.

O. N. T. LUNCHEON HONORS MRS. KNOX

Mrs. Emma Knox, a former well known Pulaski resident, and mother of Mrs. Adrian Schultz, formerly of Mt. Jackson and now of Warren, O., was honored Tuesday afternoon by members of the O. N. T. club when they entertained at a luncheon-theatre party in Youngstown, O. The occasion was a medium of presenting Mrs. Knox wtih a beautiful remembrance from her associates, to take with her to Florida, where she will remain during the winter months. She leaves Saturday of this week for the south.

After the serving of a delicious menu at one of the prominent Ohio taverns, a show was enjoyed. As a special guest the club ladies had Mrs. Eva Heldman of Struthers, O.

The next regular meeting is to be in the form of a Christmas party, and is to be held in the home of Mrs. E. O. Reed on the Mt. Jackson road December 21. Husbands will be special guests, and the usual exchange of gifts will be one of the features.

Busy Eight Club

Busy Eight club members were received by Joan Bauldauff Saturday in her home on Butler avenue. Sewing and games were the diversions enjoyed, and after routine affairs had been taken care of, the hostess served a dainty lunch.

Their next meeting will be an event of Saturday, December 7, in the home of Betty Flynn, Butler avenue.

L. C. B. A. 486

St. Mary's Branch 486 L. C. B. A. will meet Friday evening in the K. of C. hall.

SCHOOL CHUMS HELP CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

Tuesday, November 26, marked the sixth birthday of young James Carl McFarland, of 604 East Long avenue, and to celebrate the occasion, several school friends gathered at his home from 4 to 6:30 o'clock.

The young people had a high time playing various games, among which were pinning tails on a donkey, with prizes going to Martha Rose Brown, Marian Harris, Chucky Hawkins and Donnie Bixler. Another fun maker was a milk bottle game with Mary Jane Jones carrying home the prize.

Luncheon of tempting goodies was served by Mrs. McFarland, with the assistance of Mrs. George McFarland. Many useful and desirable gifts were left with the guest of honor to commemorate the happy day.

Honored At Party

One of the enjoyable events of the past few days was the party given at the home of Mrs. Catherine Srocznski, on the Butler road, the occasion being in honor of her birthday anniversary, which proved a complete surprise.

Musical numbers were played by the Polish Rhythm Boys, and Mr. and Mrs. DeCarbo also contributed to this feature. Games and other events, added to the evening's pleasures. At a suitable hour a menu of refreshments was served to guests numbering approximately forty.

A collection of lovely gifts were received by the honored guest as mementoes of the day.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTAS AT RAY ROBISON HOME

Alpha Gamma Deltas enjoyed keen bridge competition, after a short business session Tuesday evening, in the Grant street home of Mrs. Ray Robinson.

Three tables were in play, with the lovely favor going to Mrs. Orville Brown. Lunch was served buffet style, in the dining room which was decorated in Thanksgiving suggestions, an attractive bouquet of chrysanthemums, flanked on either side with tall tapers, centering the table.

On December 17, the group will be entertained in the home of Mrs. Bart Richards, East Washington street, with Miss Helen Weingartner joint hostess.

We Are Thankful

AFFAIRS domestic seem to be settling down—and debtors settling up. As a general thing business is somewhat better, though not as good as it might be. Politically the country is calm and congress stands adjourned—a possibly synonymous condition—with likelihood of much talk in January, some of it constructive. There is a more cheerful feeling in the nation than at this time last year.

It is good to be out of the woods, or at least amid the saplings. Our temperamental friends, the Japanese, seem to be a bit jittery as is not unusual, and Europe is far from calm with hobgoblins everywhere. But America, particularly the United States, is going along better, though with occasional attacks of nerves. We have plenty of ailments, but the most favorable symptom is the slow climbing out of the morass—slow, but sure.

There is a distinct trend toward buying "luxury goods" in the seasonal offerings. As one travels about there is an occassional new house to be seen, or an old one undergoing drastic repairs. People are spending money, and not the boom kind. Faces seen on the street are happier than they were. There is still much privation, but no panic.

Thanksgiving Day! Again it means something to most of us. It will mean more as time goes on. Let us give added thanks.

LONG LIVE THE KING

"They never come back" may be true of heavyweight champions, but it is not true of all kings.

George II, at any rate, has returned to Greece, whence he fled some 11 years ago, and the fact that his luggage consisted of 60 trunks and 75 suitcases would seem to indicate that he does not regard the homecoming as a mere visit of undue brevity.

It has not yet been revealed just what George II contemplates in the way of regal improvements. Perhaps he has in mind reestablishment of the Golden Age of Pericles.

However, the Greek people recalled him from his London exile, and George II, good king that he is, didn't have the heart to turn them down.

BLAMING BALDNESS ON THE WEATHER

The purported discovery that hair, like the leaves of trees, falls as the temperature drops, is disconcerting. It had long been man's vanity to believe that the chill of winter encouraged the growth, rather than the removal, of his crowning glory, just as beasts of the field and woodland are said to develop warmer coats against the pitiless cold.

The theory that baldness may result from meteorological causes suggests that the cosmic forces are of a surety not to be sneered at. After all, why shouldn't sun spots cause chickenpox or a passing comet induce a slight fever?

How can one expect to escape chilblains in the dark of the moon and why isn't it reasonable to believe that planets, not taxes, are responsible for headaches?

Eventually, perhaps, everything can be blamed on the weather.

WORKING COLLEGE STUDENTS

Truth speaks in Dean Christian Gauss of Princeton University when he says that a college education should be looked upon as a capital asset worthy of every effort toward accomplishment; if there are more than one-third of the entire student body now earning part or all of their higher education, it may be that all parents are not doing all they can to put their boys through. For it is the rarest young man who can get the most educationally out of college if he has entirely to support himself.

Dean Gauss has no criticism of parents of undergraduates who truly need to work, but it is quite possible some parents or guardians may believe that a student profits in self-reliance working, in part at least, for the cost of his higher education, and therefore let him do it, even though the necessity be not absolute. To get the most out of college requires all the time possible to devote to it, save among the exceptions. Furthermore, the jobs ought primarily, to go to the youths who need them most.

Yet it is most encouraging to think of those 760 young men who last year did not lie down on their sponsors and let them do it all. "He worked his way through college" pays a real tribute to a man who has done it.

EVER HAVE A FIRE?

Have you ever had a serious fire on your property? The chances are that you haven't—and you are lucky.

But the fact that you haven't suffered directly from fire loss should not give you a false sense of security. A fire, like anything else, has to happen a first time. And the property-owner who disregards warnings concerning fire hazards, thinking that such matters may affect others but not him, is all set for that "first time."

Unless your home is different from the average, it contains a long list of fire hazards. Remember that old furniture, those ancient magazines and clothes you've been putting in the attic little by little for many years? They offer a constant invitation to fire, no less than the nest of a real pack-rat. And the accumulations of greasy rags or refuse in the basement or garage—what more could the force of spontaneous combustion want to get in its work? And those electrical repairs you made yourself, in order to save the few dollars an expert electrician would have charged to do the job properly—perhaps you don't know that electrical hazards are one of the most prolific sources of fire. And that heating plant that is going full blast these first days of winter—unless it has been recently inspected and overhauled, it is one of the fire demon's best allies.

Almost every fire hazard can be eliminated—furthermore, it can be eliminated quickly, easily and cheaply. Some of the most dangerous hazards, such as improperly-stored inflammables and piles of rubbish, can be done away with entirely without cost. Doing that may save lives and irreplaceable property—it is worth the little work that is involved?

Blue-Eyed Girl Babies.
Two Kinds Of Treasure.
How Bond Inflation Works.
Russia Approves.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 26.

Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson finds homes for young orphans, and finds little demand for children more than six years old.

"Almost all the people want to adopt a blue-eyed baby girl."

They should know that ninety per cent of a child's future depends upon ancestry and heredity. A human being is like a pebble. Polishing will produce a diamond if the peeble happens to be a rough diamond. No amount of polishing will make a diamond of the other kind of pebble.

Polishing to a stone is what environment is to children. A child's possibilities depend upon grandfathers and grandmothers, reaching back a thousand generations. You cannot go back and change the grandfathers. But education, kindness and patience will make a useful human being of any normal child.

IN JACKSONVILLE, this state, gentlemen fitting out an expedition to hunt for pirate-treasure think they know where the gold is. They may find it, probably will not.

Other gentlemen are figuring out similar treasure expeditions in Wall Street, regardless of what happened when they did that in 1929.

Men hunting pirate-treasure and Wall Street treasure will have plenty of excitement, and that probably is well worth the effort.

SHORT STORY, HAPPY ENDING

A man had a serious disappointment.

A wallop he hadn't expected, and it almost knocked him out.

Made him feel sick, made him bluer than he'd been for years.

His first impulse was to tell his wife. She'd sympathize, she'd be helpful.

His second impulse—the one he obeyed—was to keep his troubles to himself for a while.

So he put it off. He put it off for weeks. . . . He didn't exactly worry, but he brooded more than a little, and she noticed the difference in him. She told him he wasn't looking so well. She asked him if he wasn't feeling well, asked him if he was worrying.

He denied it, not so vigorously that she'd know he was lying, but just definitely enough to make her believe him. He became very crafty at concealing his feelings.

And this concealment went on for weeks. He alternated periods in which he thought he'd tell her with periods when he decided to put it off a little longer. . . . It was partly thoughtfulness on his part, partly masculine pride. . . . And finally he didn't want to tell her at all because he was afraid she's reprove him: Afaid she's say, right away: "Why didn't you tell me?" . . . And be hurt by his lack of confidence.

Eventually, he did tell her about the blow he'd received. Quietly, he laid it out before her. . . . The first thing she said was: "How long have you known this?" and when he said "About a month," she didn't reprove him at all. She said: "You poor fellow! How terrible it must have been for you."

No criticism, just thoughtfulness and understanding from her. And the man thought: "How good to have such a wife!" and felt closer to her than he had ever been, even in those ecstatic days of the beginning of their love.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

TWO EXAMPLES

The punsters are always at work. Here are two vivid examples:

Chatty—"Oh, he's so romantic. When he addresses me he always calls me 'Fair Lady'."

Catty—"Force of habit, my dear. He's a street-car conductor."

Facetious One—"Why so gloomy, old chap?"

Gloomy One—"Just heard my uncle has cut me out of his will. He's altered it five times in the last two years."

Bible Thought For Today

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight, 4:37. Sun rises tomorrow, 6:59.

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day. If you don't have turkey be thankful that you have something. If you know any person who does not have anything to eat see that he gets it. If you can't help him yourself get someother person to do it.

In love's vocabulary, there is no such word as "no".

You can tell an American anywhere. He's the fellow who wishes something would happen.

But women wouldn't talk about clothes, either, if they got a new dress only once in three years.

ANTHEM OF THANKSGIVING

Again, today, we render thanks,
To thee, the Lord of All;
Again, we mingle in glad song
As on Thy name we call.

Too quickly, days have sped away
As we have journeyed by,
Imbibing beauty everywhere;
In earth, in sea, in sky.

We thank Thee for this wonderland
And its beauty far and wide,
For its fertile fields and waving grain
Throughout the countryside.

For Freedom's Song we offer praise
In such a land as this,
Where, safe from tyranny, we dwell
Contentedly in bliss.

And so, today, we render thanks
For all the year has brought:
We thank Thee for the many things
That God, alone hath wrought.

Our idea of a reckless automobile driver is the bozo who tries to blow his way through traffic with his horn. Some bums should not only not be allowed to drive cars, and especially without a horn.

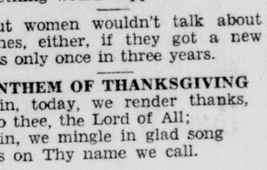

Father: "I wonder where the stepladder is?"

Mother: "Willie had it just a little while ago."

Father: "Then it must be in the preserve pantry."

Having goods for sale and selling them is often a different proposition. It isn't when they are advertised sensibly.

It was before the housemaid fell in love with Mother's vanishing cream that they named it that.

Modern youth is more frank. A lad of 20 no longer tries to conceal a No. 9 foot in a No. 6 shoe.

THANKSGIVING

For knowing river flowing by dark pines, so brave against the sky
For these, and for the homlier sight of city streets, or harbor lights
For well and ill, for good and bad, for all the happiness we've had,
For having shared with Thee thy hoard of beauty, do we thank Thee Lord!

LOYSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 15—Frank C. Hutchinson, secretary of the senior class of Tressler high school, sends us $2.00 with the following letter: "As members of the senior class of the Tressler High school we feel that we owe you something to the fond memory of such a prominent and influential man as Will Rogers. Thus we are enclosing the small sum of two dollars ($2.00) which we feel is only a small part of what we owe to him as his memory lingers with us. We know that this will not go far by itself toward a memorial but we feel that there are a good many other places all over the county that will also give to this noble deed. There are only eleven students in our class and this being an orphans home we do not have much of a chance to get or make very much money. This that we are sending for the purpose mentioned in leading newspapers of the country, is part of a small sum that we have collected from selling candy at our football games. Closing, hoping that this little that we have sent will help your purpose, we are, very truly yours, the Tressler Senior Class."

When a man in Pittsburgh went to his home which contained eight rooms he found everything in the house gone and has the police helping him find where his stuff is. Having the house left perhaps helps some.

The stomach is so human. The more it is given, the more it swells up and acts hateful.

HE OWNED ABOUT EVERYTHING IN SIGHT EXCEPT ONE SPOT.

General Pershing's father-in-law is Senator Warren of Wyoming. He now owns and controls vast properties especially at Cheyenne among which are forty-six houses. A resident took a friend around the town one day. He admired the big hotel and was informed it was owned by Senator Warren. Farther down the street he spoke of several business blocks, and each, he was informed, was owned by Senator Warren. Going out into the residential section he pointed out a row of houses and each, his guide told him was owned by Senator Warren. They came to an especially costly looking and stately house, surrounded by beautifully well-kept lawns, and the stranger stopped in admiration. "Whom does that belong to?" he tasked.

"That," said his friend, "is where Senator Warren lives."

A little later they come to a beautiful lake.

"Whose is that?" Warren's too?"

"No," said the resident, "I suppose that belongs to God."

"Really," exclaimed the friend. "How did He ever get it away from Senator Warren?"

Over the radio the chaps who sing through their noses seem to get along as well as those who sing through their mouths. Double salary awaits those soloists who can sing through both of them.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

Denise Dorando, bareback rider, said in Chicago:

"The circus business is picking up but it was in a bad way for a time.

"A friend of mine, a lion tamer, was approached one day by an old lady after he had put the lion through its paces.

"Are'nt you afraid," the old lady said, "that this ferocious beast some day will make a meal of you?"

"If business doesn't improve," said the trainer, "I'm afraid that just exactly the opposite is bound to happen."

Pap attributes his sleepless hours to insomnia, but Mother blames them on night clubs.

WHERE THE BOY HAD ONE ON THE BISHOP

Phillips Brooks was visiting at a friend's house in Maine one summer. Of course, on Sunday, he was asked to preach and in the morning, walking in the garden, he met the ten year old son of his friend.

"Going to church, this morning, Tommie?" asked the bishop.

"Not if I can help it," answered Tommie.

"Well, well! It isn't as bad as all that, my boy," answered the Bishop. "I'm going."

"Huh," said the boy. "You've got nothing on me here. You've got to. It's your job."

Upon the depth of a man's ambition for the presidency depends how active he is in changing his previous views.

Some bird who evidently don't know the Hints and Dints man wrote him a letter and prefaced our name with "Rev." Trying to flatter us!

According to reports we read in the newspapers a lot of queer men and women get to hold high places in some colleges. The colleges don't seem to be affected much by the queer ones.

It's a bottle of hair-tonic, dear."

"Oh, that's very nice of you, darling."

"Yes, I want you to give it to your typist at the office. Her hair is coming out rather badly on your coat."

And if you are not too depressed you'll remember that prosperity often had it's headaches.

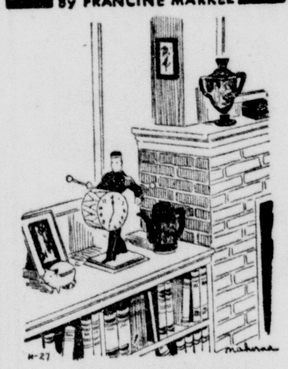

The weather prophets have not been striking it very well this winter so far. Anyhow, the nice weather is better than what some predicted.

In a Woman's mental hospital in London they have treatments of hairdressing and other beauty contraptions they treat the women with and the result is the gals are getting their senses back and feeling fine. The gals always feel better when they look nice—or try to look nice.

Good Taste

By FRANCINE MARKEL

By Francine Markel

In the decoration of the home, it is the sins of commission rather than those of omission that are the most offensive.

Fortunately, the penchant for over-decorating, so prevalent in the '90s, is a thing of the past. Silk-fringed lambrequins and huge furniture of rococo design, now looked upon as abominations, have been replaced with furnishings of simple lines.

Nevertheless, there are still many who have an indiscriminate love for knicknacks and who clutter up their rooms with these relics of the era just gone by. That accessories help to "make" your room is an admitted fact. Your lamps, vases, pictures and figurines are essential items of your decoration; but don't spoil the appearance of your home, especially your living room, with nondescript gibcracks that have neither usefulness nor beauty, their only raison d'etre being that some one wished them on you as gifts, which you feel that you simply must display.

The World At A Glance

Where Can Man Invest?
Speculation Termed Prosperity.
Heavy Taxation Is Bad.

Central Press
New York Bureau
235 East 45th St.
By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Pity the cautious man—or woman. He does not know which way to turn with his savings.

He finds the New Deal administration no better than the Old Guard Hoover administration, when it comes to speculation. Both have seemed to encourage it.

No brakes are put on run-away stock market prices by the Roosevelt administration. Every device is used to raise commodity prices. Speculation is termed prosperity. And everybody is supposed to be happy, although 11 million persons are jobless, return on savings is lower than ever and taxes denude earnings. Debts are decreed as virtues, because they create a heavy turnover. And spending is considered a means toward enlarging savings.

High prices for stocks can benefit merely a few, at best. Those are the few who bought stocks when they were at bargain levels, and sell at the peak—if anyone is so fortunate as to know when the peak is reached.

The cautious investor cannot buy now. He can leave his money in the bank. (At least, the banks are safer now than they were under the old regime.) But the return on savings is so small that one virtually is penalized for having money. Banks cannot invest it with hope of a fair return. Insurance dividends also are dropping. The large institution, no less than the small saver, can find no safe place to put money where it will bring a fair return.

* * *

WHY A RETURN?

Once more we hear the question: "Why ought there to be interest at all? It is not a divine right that money loaned out or put into a piece of paper, (bonds) shall increase in value constantly."

That is true enough, except for two contrary reasons:

1. If we are not to have interest, then we must change our state into pure collectivism, in which all the wealth would accrue to the state—supposedly, the whole people.

2. If we do not have bonds, in which interest accrues, it will help nothing to dopt the alternative now proposed — printing money against the stores of gold and silver the nation now possesses. Why? The money printed is likely to depreciate at a greater rate than bonded interest is likely to accrue.

It is true that an increase in bonded debt beyond the value of the savings of a nation is as dangerous inflation as printing money in the same equivalent. But that is not an excuse for either.

There are two means of taking care of top-heavy debt:

1. Taxation.
2. Repudiation.

* * *

WHICH COURSE?

Heavy taxation simply drives capital into hiding. Eventually, you can't even find it in order to seize it, for capital consists chiefly of credit. Heavy taxation, therefore, would estop industry, would estop the wealth-producing processes.

The present danger is that what seems to be a normal turnover of capital is in reality a stimulation created by immense public spendings, by huge debts, by the attraction of metals that induce speculation—gold and silver.

How, then, can the debt be paid, if not by higher and higher taxation?

Conservative economists hold to a view with which many disagree—chiefly because of the extreme nationalism now manifest throughout the world—that the "freeing of trade" through the removal of barriers is the manner in which debts can be reduced. They hold that gold and silver, money and high prices, are not wealth, but that the exchange of trade is the sole basis of wealth. From the beginning of time, through all forms of government, from the earliest to the latest, man has not changed this natural principle of economics, these economists say.

* * *

WORSE, NOT BETTER

While large American industrial centers cheer a reciprocity agreement with Canada, because it will mean much larger business and a great increase in actual wealth, there are riots in other parts of the world because sanctions against Italy destroy the business of nations opposing Italy as well as Italy's own business.

Such constant dislocations of trade do not make for peace, but for war.

The world today is in a dangerous shape economically. Wall Street shouts with joy as more gold and silver pour in from distressed Europe to raise the speculative tide. But wealth which flees in distress often departs as suddenly — and sometimes disappears altogether.

* * *

REPUDIATION?

Debts, of course, can be wiped out by repudiation. Outright repudiation is considered immoral. But repudiation under an euphonious name is considered sanctimonious.

For example, millions of people would greet an announcement of issuing "a few billion dollars" in money against that commodity we have stacked up in our vaults—gold and silver.

Then they would issue "a few billion" more against the "other assets of the nation". And they would spend 22 billions a year on an old age pension plan, "raising" the sum through "turn-over" taxes. And, at the same time, they would retain the processing tax, by which the consumer pays to maintain prices on commodities above world prices—which are depressed because trade is shut off. And the tariff on imports would be retained.—Why, in the end, the collapse would be so general that nothing would be worth anything, and we should have to start all over again with barter and exchange!

FLATTERERS

If it's flattery you want, you must always stay on top;
Never lose a little battle, never let your credit drop.
For the flatterers only swarm where triumphant men are found,
When it's faith and help you need they will never be around.

If it's flattery you seek, keep your pockets filled with gold.
Single-handed you must fight if the flatterers you'd hold.
Single-handed you must bear every burden on you laid,
For the flatterers will desert you if you ever called for aid.

If it's flattery you want, make yourself so very wise
That you'll find the grain of truth underneath a thousand lies.
Never falter. Never fail. Never wince where men can see.
For where doubt and danger threat flatterers do not care to be.

If you must always be praised, whether false or whether true,
Be assured that you can brave every care that comes to you.
Be assured that you are safe from whate'er the fates may send.
For the flatterers will have fled should you ever need a friend.

Oil Embargo Is Delayed Further

British Assert U. S. Not "Left Out On Limb" On Oil Shipments

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

(Copyright, 1935, By International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Despite British assurances that the United States had not been left "out on a limb" with restrictions on oil shipments to Italy, the cabinet today set back still farther the day when the League of Nations can impose an oil embargo.

Meeting for the first time since its reorganization, the cabinet confined its discussion mainly to domestic matters.

A session to take up extension of anti-Italian sanctions will not be held before Friday, it was indicated. Action then will hinge largely upon the fate of the French cabinet at the hands of the Chamber of Deputies Thursday.

Italian diplomats told the British foreign office that Premier Benito Mussolini ordered Marshal Pietro Badoglio, who is due in Massaua, Eritrea, today, to take over the high command, to hold up the advance on the east flank of the north Ethiopian campaign and drive down the west.

This will carry an Italian column along the border of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, down to the Lake Tsana region and the headwaters of the Blue Nile river, the heart and chief artery of the great Nile irrigation schemes.

Mussolini hesitated taking this step without warning Britain, and it is possible that the cabinet today may object. The information was conveyed by Ambassador Dino Grandi in a talk with Foreign Minister Sir Samuel Hoare, and earlier yesterday by Leonardo Vitetti, the counsellor of the Italian embassy, who visited the foreign office.

SCOTLAND UNION

Scotland W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. G. B. Coates Monday evening. Twelve members and two visitors were present.

Mrs. Lowery and Mrs. Jennie Wilson had charge of the devotions and Mrs. John Wimer, the program. Mrs. J. D. Patterson read an article on "Let the Drunks Kill Themselves and Make Work for Non-Drinkers." The business period was conducted by the president, Mrs. W. G. Wilkins. Wool patches were collected to make a comfort for the rest cottage in Harrisburg. Mrs. S. A. Leiby was authorized to send Christmas cards and stamps to the soldiers' hospital at Aspinwall.

The membership campaign has been planned in contest form, with Mrs. Coates and Miss Elizabeth Taylor as the division captains. The losing side will fete the winners. A finance committee was appointed to plan to raise the union's quota for the Frances Willard Centenary fund which was started in 1934 and will close in 1939.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. S. A. Leiby, King avenue. The subject will be "Peace," with Mrs. Helen Wilkins as leader and Mrs. J. D. Pattison in charge of devotions. Roll call will be answered by quotations about world peace. Husbands will be guests.

After prayer by Mrs. J. D. Pattison the meeting adjourned. The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Lenora, served delicious refreshments.

CHURCH SESSION BROUGHT TO END

Delegates To State Council Of Churches Leave Harrisburg Today

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 27—Resolutions calling for action on a host of subjects ranging from severe punishment for drunken drivers to control of munitions were on the minutes of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches as delegates to the organization's 25th annual meeting scattered to their homes today.

Thirteen recommendations contained in a report of the council's department of social service were adopted and officers were elected before the brief session concluded.

Other reports disclosed that the Pennsylvania Council of Churches has more denominations in its regular and affiliated membership than any other council in the United States. Twenty three regular denominations and 66 ecclesiastical groups with a total of more than 2,000,000 members are represented in the council, Dr. William L. Mudge, executive secretary reported.

Gambling legislation, Sunday movies, drunken driving, white slave traffic, charitable activities, labor conditions and crime were included in the resolutions report. One of the recommendations called for support of a campaign to establish county welfare boards to "coordinate and simplify all public welfare activities in counties." Efforts to legalize a state lottery were opposed, and the elimination of liquor advertising on radio and in the press was commended. More drastic administration of laws with a view to punishing the "carelessness of drinking as well as drunken drivers" was urged.

Apple Problems Of Northwest Told In Letter Sent Here

A story of how a mammoth crop of fine apples is going to waste in the large orchards at Wenatchee, Wash., because of a serious shortage of apple pickers was told in a letter which came today to relatives here of former New Castle residents.

Mrs. Bertha Baldwin, sister of Dr. Dale C. Caldwell, Greer building, wrote to her brother that early blizzards, another thing working against the orchard owners, have destroyed 59,000 bushels of apples already.

Mrs. Bertha Baldwin and her son, Wallace C. Baldwin, have returned to Pasadena, Cal., after spending the summer in the heart of the apple country.

Wenatchee, known as the "apple center of the world," Mrs. Baldwin said, has produced apples which measure 16 inches around and five inches in diameter and weighs one-and-a-half pounds. That was the largest of the apples they exhibited to their California friends when they returned.

The letter said that in central Washington the schools were temporarily closed to allow pupils to become apple pickers.

The Baldwins have been residing in California of late and this summer journeyed north to spend the vacation season there. They report that they were glad to return to California.

FOUR KILLED IN PITTSBURGH AREA BY AUTO CRASHES

"Heavy Smog" Blankets Pittsburgh District, Driving Is Precarious

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—While a heavy "smog" blanketed the Pittsburgh district, four more persons were killed in automobile accidents in Allegheny county early today, raising the toll since the first of the year to 232.

The latest victims were: Edward O'Malley, 28; Miss Esther Glaydell, 27; Chester Smith, 18, and Maple Callen, 30.

NORTH CHINA IS INVADED BY JAPANESE

(BULLETIN)

(Copyright, 1935 by International News Service)

PEIPING, Nov. 27— Japanese troops by the thousands rolled into North China today, occupying strategic positions around Peiping and Tientsin and at Great Wall gates, after the apparent collapse of the Eastern Hopei autonomy.

So tense is the situation, due to Japanese troop movements and the strong stand of the Nanking government against pro-Japanese self-government provinces, that Major Rixey, head of the United States marine detachment and senior military attitientsin, ordered all marines to report in barracks by 10 o'clock every night.

GREAT BRITAIN ALTERS PROGRAM ON NAVAL RATIO

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Great Britain has decided to abandon its fight for a ratio agreement at the forthcoming naval conference in London, and will substitute a plea for both quantitative and qualitative limitations, it was learned on the highest authority today.

Japan's refusal to attend a conference to debate a continuance of the existing 5-5-3 ratio presumably was one of the reasons for the British decision.

The British, under the circumstances, view the value of the ratio system as having greatly diminished or disappeared altogether.

NO ALKALIES FOR ACID INDIGESTION

MILLIONS have found they do not need to drench their stomachs with strong, caustic alkalies. Physicians have said this habit often brings further acid indigestion. So much more safe and sensible to simply carry a roll of Tums in your pocket. Munch 3 or 4 after meals—or whenever troubled by heartburn, gas, sour stomach. Try them when you feel the effects of last night's party, or when you smoke too much. Tums contain a wonderful antacid which neutralizes acid in the stomach, but never overalkalizes stomach or blood. Thanksgiving

For all that makes this life worth while—
The laughter of our children small,
The glory of a friendly smile,
The blossoms by the garden wall,
The yield of orchard, field and plain—
We pause in gratitude to pray
And consecrate ourselves again
To Thee on this Thanksgiving Day.

For love that keeps the family whole;
For strength to cope with doubt and care;
For faith which fortifies the soul
Against the forces of despair;
For all that makes the heart rejoice;
For mirth and song and wholesome play,
Once more our gratitude we voice
To Thee on this Thanksgiving Day.

For pity hate can never kill;
For tenderness of heart and mind,
Which still outlives and always will
Men's lusts and greeds of every kind;
For joys which constant will remain
When vanities are swept away,
We come, with gratitude, again
To Thee on this Thanksgiving Day.

Dear Lord, for neighbors kind and true
Who understand us when we weep,
And all they are and all they do;
For all the memories we keep;
For love which can alone restore
Our strength, when faltering we stray,
With gratitude we turn once more
To Thee on this Thanksgiving Day.

Wage Difficulties Are Ironed Out For Plate Glass Workers

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—Settlement of wage difficulties that threatened to cause a strike of 4,500 employes of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company was announced today by Glen McCabe, president of the Federated Flat Glass Workers' Association, who said a new agreement had been signed calling for a blanket increase of five cents an hour in pay to union workers.

The increase is retroactive to November 15, McCabe said.

With "geographical adjustments" the boost about equals the 10 per cent increase the union had demanded for its members in the company's plants at Creighton and Ford City, Pa., Mt. Vernon, O., Clarksburg, W. Va., and Henrietta, Okla. The adjustments, according to McCabe, eliminate differences in levels in force in plants according to their locations. Employes' wages now average about 71 cents an hour, he said.

HIT-RUN DRIVER KILLS AGED MAN

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 27.—Ira S. McCue, 52, Geistown, the sole support of his aged parents, was killed by an automobile several hours before his body was found on Route 56 early today.

The body was hurled into a yard, about 15 feet from the roadway. Broken headlights and cowl lights were the only clues found by police. McCue was a former dentist at Jeannette, Pa.

Plans Complete For Police Dance

Police Ball To Be Held At Cathedral Thanksgiving Night

DEVOTE RECEIPTS TO PENSION FUND

All plans have been completed for the police ball at the Cathedral, Thanksgiving night, according to committees in charge of the dance. The police have engaged one of the best orchestras in this section and dancing will be in vogue from 9 p. m. until 1 a. m. The police have prepared for one of the largest crowds since they begun holding annual dances. The profits from the dance will be devoted for pension purposes. Uniformed police will be the attendants. Automobiles parked in Lincoln avenue will be guarded by the officers.

UTILITY BATTLE BLAZING FORTH

Battle Over Holding Company Act Breaks Out In Three Places

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—With the government striking back for the first time, the battle over the utility holding company act blazed on three fronts today.

The securities and exchange commission asked a New York federal court to compel the huge Electric Bond and Share Company, controllers of five secondary holding companies, to register itself and the intermeditae companies by December 1 as required by law.

The bond and share company struck back with a surprise announcement that it was dissolving its interlocking relationships with its secondary holding and operating companies. SEC officials, however, indicated that this move would not affect the suit, with the possible exception of minor changes in the bill of complaint.

In the meantime, the Wilmington, Del., federal court was asked by the Stone and Webster, Inc., Engineers, Inc., and other subsidiary companies to enjoin the SEC from enforcing the act.

The third action was filed in the District of Columbia supreme court by the North American Company, which controls among other properties the District of Columbia Power and Electric Railway systems, asking for similar action against the SEC.

Huge W. P. A. Force To Enjoy Holiday

Will Be No Work Done On Projects On Thursday— Pay Checks Arrive

No work will be done on the Works Progress Administration or the emergency relief on Thursday, November 28, it was announced by the heads of each body today. The offices will be closed, the projects will be idle and the employes will enjoy the holiday.

Early today a huge batch of pay checks arrived in the WPA offices and in order to get them to the men they will be delivered in person instead of being sent through the mail. Had they been mailed the men would not have received them until Friday at least and J. Vale Downie, director, wants to get every check received here into the hands of the men entitled to them by this evening.

With the abandonment of the daily time report system, a new plan has been evolved. Motor messengers will pick up the time sheets at the end of each pay period and get them into the offices here by the next day.

The pay periods are staggered so that they do not jam up in one day and gradually the system here is being perfected to the point where no delay is anticipated.

SUPREME COURT CUTS VERDICT

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—Because of its belief that compensation for death "must be commensurate with the proof adduced of pecuniary loss," the state supreme court has reduced a jury award of $5,317.50 to the parents of a six-year-old boy killed in Erie county, it was learned today as the decision arrived at the office of the prothonotary here.

The decision reduced the award to $3500. The suit was brought by Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Walker, of Edinboro, against Willis J. Perkins, as a result of the death of their son, David, in April of last year.

The glee club is under the direction of Miss Ada Peabody, assistant professor in the Conservatory of Music. Officers are Miss Bernice Turner, Farrell, president; Miss Hazel Long, Worthington, vice president; Miss Mary Jane Stevenson, Pittsburgh, secretary; Miss Margaret Eversole, Wilkinsburg, treasurer; and Miss Laura Ramsey, New Castle, librarian.

Dr. Jack Returns From Mission Post

Home After Tennessee Service, She Plans Like Work In Pittsburgh

Dr. Anna M. Jack, New Castle's beloved "mountain missionary," returned to her home at 1112 East Washington street last night from her isolated mission headquarters in the foothills of the mountains of eastern Tennessee.

For the past two months she has been giving generous service "in the name of Jesus Christ" to almost 100 residents of the remote mountain region about her mission station. She has been doing that every year for a long time.

She came home to announce that this winter she will engage in similar work in the poorer sections of Pittsburgh and then return again to the Tennessee region next summer.

Dr. Jack gives her service "in the name of the Master" and hopes, in her humble way, to better the conditions of those she meets. In the jail in Greenville, the county seat of Green county, a city of 6,000 inhabitants, Dr. Jack inaugurated new Bible classes for women prisoners this year. Her work in the mountain region went along as customary.

Dr. Jack had warm praise for local residents who donated clothing and other articles to her for distribution among the poor she reaches.

Ben S. Allen Is Hoover's Agent

Former President's Ghost Writer Aided Him In Past, Too

SPEECHES ARE HELD TOO GOOD

Central Press
Washington Bureau
1900 S street

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—"A ghost writer is all right, but not a staff of ghost writers. The members of a staff clash, disagree, conflict and contradict one another."

The speaker, now a publicity adviser in Washington, was connected with the G. O. P. national committee's press service during the Hoover regime.

He was comparing the style of the ex-president's recent speeches with the style of those he delivered while campaigning in 1928 and 1932 and between times, as White House tenant.

Throughout the 1928-32 period he had a ghost writing staff. It is of record that his inaugural address went to the government printing office for 22 sets of corrections. It isn't reasonable to expect a speech, which has been so thoroughly revised, to have much spontaneity.

Now, however, the Californian's talks are gingery.

The Washington consensus is that today he has a lone ghost writer.

* * *

BEN ALLEN IT?

This ghost writer is supposed to be Ben S. Allen, who is traveling around in advance of the ex-president, or in his company presumably to "fix things" in his behalf or to advise him.

Ben Allen is a smart newspaperman and a capable press agent.

He was an Associate Press correspondent in London when the World war broke out.

Being readily available and already acquainted with Hoover, then a resident of the English capital, he was conscripted by the California engineer to aid in the transfer of stranded Americans to their home country.

Subsequently he assisted his chief in Belgian relief work.

When Hoover came to the United States as food administrator Allen came too, as his publicity representative.

* * *

VANISHES

Later, upon Hoover's gravitation into the cabinet, Allen vanished from the national capital.

Maybe he did not like the idea of being merged, as a mere member, into a publicity staff. Anyway, he went to California and engaged in journalism in Fresno. Some say that Hoover backed him financially, but that is pure gossip; immaterial also.

At all events, he presently was graduated into the job of publicist for the California prune industry.

At the current moment he appears to be managing Hoover presidentially.

* * *

TOO GOOD?

Although Ben Allen's Hooverian speeches are vastly better than any the latter's ghost-writing staff ever prepared for him, their very excellence is, in a sense, their weakness. They're TOO good.

No one can but know that Herbert Hoover never concocted them.

Moreover, his delivery of a well-written speech is not much better than his delivery of a poorly written one. No matter how good the substance of a speech may be, competent elocution is needed to make it effective over the radio—and as an elocutionist ex-President Hoover takes no prizes; doesn't pretend to. He is a modest man as to his oratorical abiltiy, if any. The former president's speeches are quite convincing, read the morning after—if many folk take the trouble to read them. But do they?

* * *

ALLEN'S DIFFICULTY

Ben Allen, in his ghost writing has a major difficulty.

He has to attack Rooseveltian policies. They are vulnerable, perhaps. But every time he does so, the answer is: "Well, Hoover had HIS chance. Did HE do anything helpful? It may be legitimate to boost for Borah or Landon, but why boost for a tried and proved fizzle, like Hoover?"

When we criticize the government let us remember that it is ourselves that, in the broadest sense, we are criticizing, for we make the government. Too often we behave as though we are innocents arraigning criminals in a conspiracy to oppress us.

Today Is The Day

Edwin P. Morrow, b. 1878, ex-Kentucky governor, member U. S. Railway Board of Mediation.

Today's Yesterdays — The First Thanksgiving—In the New World, was NOT, as popularly believed, observed in England, but on May 27, 1578, on the shores of Newfoundland, having been appointed by the English minister Wolfall for the Frobisher expedition.

The idea of Thanksgiving Days goes back, of course, to the early Israelites; such days are mentioned throughout the Bible. The Pilgrims and Puritans had observed them in England before they came to America.

What is popularly regarded as the first "real" Thanksgiving Day was observed in Plymouth colony on Dec. 13, 1621! this was the occasion when wild turkey made its appearance at the Thanksgiving table.

Nov. 28, 1582—William Shakespeare, 18, was married in Stratford-in-Avon to Anne Hathaway, 26, six months before the birth of their daughter, Susanna.

Nov. 28, 1886—George Hazlett and Sadie Allen went over Niagara Falls in a barrel together. They were three hours between Maid of the Mist landing and Whirlpool Park. Hazlett was able to celebrate that night with friends, but Sadie had to nurse her bruises and doctor her stomach which had violently upset itself in the barrel.

Writnig Wrongs—Taint so—
That turkeys came from Turkey.
In fact, it is the only race of poultry that originated in North America! And you're wrong if you believe that the Pilgrims were the discoverers of its eating qualities. When Spanish explorers arrived in Mexico in 1517 they found large flocks of turkeys domesticated by Amerindians.

Its name appears to have come from the fact that the word bears some resemblance to the bird's repeated call-notes: "Turk, turk, turk."

tion bonds, our plucking feathers from Uncle Sam's financial breast?

AMERICANS that would like to understand our government's "billions in bonds" system, representing pure inflation, nothing behind them but a promise to pay, may get information from Mr. E. C. Romfh, Miami banker. He says:

"The banks today are subscribing for billions upon billions of bond issues. (Please note that I said subscribing). The operation is like this: Our bank is allotted, say, one million dollars in bonds — upon which the government pays interest and, what's more, give us tax exemption, and then we credit their 'special account,' upon which we do not pay interest.

"Fine for the bank? Sure, if there wasn't a trick in it. The fact is . . . that just ain't banking. It's the first process in manufacturing credit. The government spends it—or rather the politicians do, and what is one man's credit is also another man's cash, paper money, or bank credit, and deposits go up and up.

"Soon there is a lot of stupid credit in a lot of stupid hands, and before long we will be doing the same old stupid things that have caused so much tragedy and suffering in the past."

Mr. Romfh's national program suggested to the banker's convention is simple:

"An adequate army of airplanes and a Navy of submarines. No nation would get far in attacking us—and if we took a vote on 'foreign war and entanglements' the answer would be 'mind our own business.'"

Mr. Romfh thinks it will take a long time to stop handing out money in dole, relief, etc., and tells of a sixteen-year-old mountain boy who stopped Jess Andrews to ask if he had seen his mother.

"The boy looked mad. Jess told him that he had seen a woman with a pair of boots on, khaki pants, blouse shirt and a ten-gallon hat. 'That's her!' shouted the boy as he dashed down the road, 'She's trying to wean me."

Mr. Romfh thinks that it will take the government some time to "wean" the ten or twelve millions of dole, relief and imitation job clients.

RUSSIA APPROVES the 50-to-1 figure of nations "gang-up" against Italy. She approves sanctions that might result in starving Italian women and children.

That is what Russia says, but it is not necessarily what Russia thinks. It suits Russia at this moment to see so-called "capitalist nations" attacking each other just as it suited wily Louis the Eleventh of France to see the great nobles of his kingdom attacking and weakening each other. They made him stronger.

NEBRASKA sets an example to other states, simplifying and economizing on extravagant multiplied government of America.

Nebraska's legislature adjourned today, not to meet again, barring emergencies until 1937. When it does meet, instead of a lower house and senate there will be only one single legislative chamber.

Why citizens should elect and support two separate sets of legislators is not clear. Senator Norris, who is entitled to credit for that Nebraska reform, talks about leaving public life. He is only 74 and ought to be starting on his best work.

THE KIND of war interesting to this country is illustrated in the flight of the great American clipper ship over the Pacific, first the hop from San Francisco to Pearl Harbor, 2,400 miles, then from Pearl Harbor to Midway Island, 1,380 miles farther.

A crew of six, fourteen passengers and one hundred thousand letters travel safely high in the air. That is the right war for men, a war against time, distance, the law of gravitation and against limits that Nature seeks to set to men's activities.

TROUBLE in Brazil. Soldiers imprison their officers, and the Associated Press says Communists are directing the rebellion in the seaport capital of Northern Brazil. News of army planes being rushed in may be soothing.

If Montesquieu were here to get out a new edition of his "Spirit of Laws," he would have to add a chapter on the "Spirit of No Law" to include Communists. Or he might discover in that old "New Idea" only another form of one-man tyranny.

Liquor Sales Show Decrease

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 27.—The State Liquor Control board today reported a drop of more than $200,000 in retail sales for the week ended November 16, as compared with sales in the pre-Armistice day period.

Total sales for the week of November 16 amounted to $1,109,418, while in the previous week they totaled $1,318,019. Sales for the last week compiled by the board were more than $190,000 over the corresponding 1934 week.

The board also announced the state liquor store system will be closed Thursday, Thanksgiving Day.

Makes Plea For Workers' Safety

In an appeal to hunters today, J. Vale Downie, director of District 14, Works Progress Administration, asks for co-operation in the matter of safety to workers on the highways.

"Thousands of workers are located on roads termed as good hunting territory," said Mr. Downie, "and they present a serious hazard during the present hunting season. Safety bulletins have been posted in conspicuous places within areas where WPA workers are located as well as at gasoline stations and road stands. With the coming of the big game season and the use of high powered, long ranged rifles, hunters are asked to exercise especial care in determining the proximity of the workers."

The State Game Commission and the state highway patrol are co-operating with the safety section of the WPA in conducting this campaign.

SPEED TRAP SET AT SELLERSVILLE

(International News Service)

SELLERSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 27.—Borough officials have ordered a strict speed trap set for hasty motorists believed responsible for an unusually large number of automobile accidents on main streets here.

The traffic limit was made 20 miles an hour and fines and arrests were prescribed for violators.

Brindle Given An Advancement

Announcement was made today by the Carnegie-Illinois Company of the further advancement of a former New Castle man, Harry L. Brindle, who has been general superintendent of the Farrell steel works and furnaces. Mr. Brindle has been promoted to the position of assistant general superintendent of the Youngstown district, effective as of December 1.

He is the son of Edward Brindle of Jefferson street, and started with the steel company here in 1906 in the roll department. In 1919 he was made assistant master mechanic of the Farrell Works, assistant general superintendent on February 1, 1926, and general superintendent on June 1, 1931.

He will be succeeded at Farrel by Frederick B. Quigley, who has been located in Youngstown since 1908.

NOTED DIRECTOR COMING

Arthur E. Bagley, New York, director of the physical education bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company and one of the nation's outstandng physical education leaders, will speak to the New Castle Rotary club on January 13 and the Kiwanis club on January 15, it was announced today.

Knickerbocker Tells Of Motor Caravan Trip In Ethiopia

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1935, By International News Service)

DESSYE, Ethiopia, Nov. 25. (Delayed)—For three days after the League of Nations sanctions against Italy to prevent her continuing her invasion of Ethiopia, we drove thru the Ethiopian bush attempting to reach the front. Today, continuing before daybreak, we were reflecting on the league's efforts, when our truck suddenly sank hub deep in a mud hole.

The mishap seemed to parallel the league's efforts, which, although made with the best of intentions, constantly sink into a deep mud hole.

But it doesn't need political symbolism to make this trip interesting.

Up 12,000 Feet.

After we heaved the truck out of the hole, we rolled along at a height of 12,000 feet on a narrow path cut in the mountainside and down an incline at such speed that it seemed the overburdened truck had run away.

Racing like a toboggan towards a vast plain, two of us presently saw a chance to leap out to make pictures. The native chauffeur gritted his teeth as the truck pulled up with the radiator sticking out over a precipice with a sheer drop of 3,000 feet.

Undoubtedly that trail to Dessye is the most precipitious automobile road in the world, and it is filled with hairpin turns.

So sharp was the grade that we had to stick stones under the wheels to keep the truck stationary while we were looking below into the terrifying depths, losing ourselves in wonderment at the beauty of the landscape.

Suddenly the caravan leader, Leo Thess, spotted a great bull baboon chattering impudently on the crest of the mountain. With one long shot, he brought down the savage dog-monkey.

Fatally hit, the baboon screamed, and from all sides came females, and he was lifted to their shoulders and carried away.

Gets Guinea Fowls.

Entering the guinea fowl country, Movie Cameraman Ariel Varges, with a yell of delight, levelled his shotgun and fired from the moving truck, bagging five.

The chauffeur let go the steering wheel and clapped his hands with joy, forgetting the tooth-ache that had plagued him much of the trip.

We had no water, and as dusk approached we did not know where we could find any. Every revolution of the motor brought us closer to the implacably savage, helling Danakil desert.

Finally we induced a native warrior, with a promise of rifle cartridges, to take us to a well.

That night we ate guinea fowl broiled by Varges, but about midnight, when we needed more water, we were told that we could never get our native boy to bring it even from the well only 400 yards away, due to his fear of going out in the darkness.

But water is more important than risk, so, equipping two of the boys with mausers, we all started for the water hole. It was a bizarre experience, climbing into a cave 300 feet deep to reach the well, where we squatted with rifles while the boy clambered back to the surface with bottles filled with sulphurous water.

At 1 a. m., under the stars, we travelled back to the camp, while the eyes of jungle beasts blazed the reflection of our searchlights and Europe and Italy and the war seemed as far away from us as they were from the native boys who silently accompanied us to our starlit camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gilliland of New Wilmington visited relatives in the community the first of the week and attended the morning service at the Rocky Springs U. P. church in New Galilee.

The Y. P. C. U. of the Rocky Springs church has arranged for a reception in honor of the new members received into membership of the church on Wednesday evening, November 27.

Mrs. James Beatty and Mrs. C. A. Kerr of Big Beaver township visited their sister, Mrs. Howard Marshall of College Hill, who is able to be about her home following an illness of rheumatic fever.

Miss Pauline McCullough of Grove City and Miss Thelma McCullough of New Wilmington spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McCullough and family of Big Beaver township.

A number from here attended the installation service at the College Hill U. P. church Friday evening. Rev. Richard P. Listen of New York, formerly of New Galilee route 1, was installed as pastor of the College Hill congregation. Rev. W. W. Wilis, pastor of the Rocky Springs U. P. church, presided and preached the installation sermon.

Mrs. Lydia Lusk of Little Beaver township attended the 110th anniversary of the organization of the New Brighton U. P. church last week. The anniversary dinner for members and former members was served in the church dining room November 20 and the Rev. C. J. Williamson, D. D., of Pittsburgh, a former minister, preached Sunday morning, November 24.

BEAVER Townships

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Taylor of New Castle spent Friday visiting Mr. and Mrs. George McBride of Big Beaver township.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Penman of East Pittsburgh, Pa., visited Saturday in the John W. Bronson home in Little Beaver township.

Russell Smith of New Wilmington, Pa., was a business caller here this week at the homes of patrons of Milk Testing association.

Relatives here are glad to hear that Mrs. Carl Gregg is improving nicely from an operation for appendicitis at the New Brighton hospital.

North Beaver grange will entertain the Lawrence county Pomona grange in the Moravia Presbyterian church on Wednesday, December 4.

Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Porter returned missionaries from India, will conduct the thank offering service at the Rocky Springs U. P. church on

Frick Art Collection To Be Open To Public

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—Bought with riches harvested from the coal and coke for which Pennsylvania has become famous, the $25,000,000 Frick collection of art will be thrown open to a marveling public for the first time in history on December 11 when the Frick mansion in New York is opened as a museum, according to plans underway today.

That great collection is one outgrowth of the $20,000 Henry Clay Frick borrowed 77 years ago from Judge Thomas Mellon to found an industrial empire and today it rivals even the collection of paintings of Judge Mellon's son, Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury.

Some art lovers say the Frick collection is even greater than the Mellon collection, for included among its gems are the famous 14 panels painted by Fragonard for Madame Du Barry. For these Frick paid the highest price ever recorded for the product of an artist—$1,500,000.

Both the Frick and Mellon collections were bought with the riches and wealth that accrued to the two industrialists as they developed the natural resources of Western Pennsylvania. And both will be sheltered elsewhere than in the sections where their owners became rich and famous.

Frick's collection will remain permanently housed in New York and Mellon's in the National Gallery of Art in the United States which he has founded at Washington, D. C.

AROUND CITY HALL

It is safe to say that one-third of the men arrested for drunkenness here hold residence elsewhere, hence Mayor Charles B. Mayne's order, issued almost daily, to leave the city. Quite a few of them who are jailed for imbibing too freely are on relief. In such cases if money is found on their person and they are married men, the money is turned over to their wives.

"If they keep it up they'll be caught," said Sergeant M. J. Young yesterday relative to the purse snatching bandits who have grabbed three pocketbooks in four attempts since November 21. Operations started in Boyles avenue, shifted to Stewart Place and Highland avenue, then to Park and Highland avenues. The last theft was at South and South Jefferson street.

Inasmuch as reports say that estimates of 1936 appropriations are quite high, it is natural to believe that when the city fathers gather around the table to consider the budget there will be considerable wielding of pencils. Sums which it is believed may be required for certain items will be marked down directly opposite the item and when the demand of 1935 has been cited councilmen will be able to then decide what should be appropriated for 1936. If the opinion of incoming officeholders can be judged from the tentative amounts set for deputies in the treasurer's office, none of them can be called a spendthrift.

Clerks in the offices of the county Clerks in the offices of the county treasurer and city treasurer have somewhat different duties. One item, say that of delinquent county taxes. They are turned over to a collector, but city delinquent taxes must be collected by the deputies and a few extra helpers.

It is not probable that the list of eligible policemen will be submitted to city council for a week or more. Not all of the papers have as yet been rated. Under a civil service commission regulation each candidate who has had an examination and his papers rated, receives an opportunity to have the rating reviewed. Some days ago the council asked for a list of eligibles. The mayor, at the suggestion of the chief of police, requested that owing to illness, resignations and petty robberies, several men be placed on the force immediately. When elegible lists have not been available in the past, it has been the custom to add men temporarily to the force.

PITTSBURGH POLICE GETTING POLITE

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—Pittsburgh is proud of its obliging policemen.

They not only tip their hats when they give a much-too-careless driver a parking tag, but now are painting the fire plugs yellow so he won't "accidentally" park in forbidden territory.

The city traffic department started to apply the paint after motorists receiving tags complained they couldn't see the plugs.

PLAN TO HEAR APPEALS FROM SIX ATTORNEYS

Six Philadelphia Lawyers Will Appeal From Decision Disbarring Them

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—Appeals of six Philadelphia lawyers barred from practice for unprofessional conduct will be heard by the state supreme court here next week, it was announced today.

Appeals of State Senator Samuel W. Salus; his brother, Civil Service Commissioner Herbert W. Salus, and Albert P. Goldberg, employe of their law firm, were set by the high tribunal for December 2. The three, with Bernard L. Lemisch, were disbarred by the five Philadelphia common pleas judges in a special prosecution by the Philadelphia Bar Association. Lemisch's appeal will be heard December 4.

Disbarred in another proceeding, David R. Griffith and Edward R. Forman had their appeals set for an indefinite date next week.

County Chemist In Grim Battle To Save Brothers

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—County Chemist Frank C. Buckmaster was waging a grim race with death today.

From his test tubes and microscope he sought to determine the identity of the poison that took the life of Mary Brugas and has stricken her two brothers, Albert, 8, and Edward, 6. The two brothers were reported in a critical condition and growing gradually weaker at the hospital.

Buckmaster said it may be two or three days before he is able to complete his examination of samples of food taken from the children's home and of the contents of their stomachs in order to devise a possible antidote.

KUNSELMAN TO BE SENTENCED ON DECEMBER 7

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 27.—Formal sentencing of Ray Kunselman, 35, local "cave-man lover" who was convicted of first degree murder in the slaying of his 19-year-old sweetheart. Dorothy Virginia Horne, will take place December 7, it was learned today.

He will be arraigned before Judge Howard W. Hughes who will pronounce the sentence of life imprisonment fixed by the jury.

Hon. Fred L. Rentz, President,
The New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:

The officers and members of New Castle Lodge, B. P. O. Elks, No. 69, wish to extend their thanks to the New Castle News for the assistance rendered our chairman, Harry Alexander, toward making our community card party held Friday, November 22, 1935, such a civic affair.

We also express our thanks to all persons aiding in anyway, toward making the party a financial, as well as a social success.

Yours very truly,
BERTRAM DAVIS,
Exalted Ruler.

Think "Ella" Rates Hall Of Fame Place

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 27.—Westminster college students nominate to the hall of fame, "Ella," women's dormitory cook, who has prepared 1,000,000 student-meals in her sixteen years on the campus.

For those who doubt, here are the figures: 100 students each day, eating three meals, totals 300 student-meals; seven days each week totals 2100 weekly, which multiplied by 38 weeks, the total number of school weeks, makes 79,800 student-meals prepared each year. Sixteen years of preparation multiplied by 79,800 equals 1,276,800 student - meals, which Ella has prepared since coming to Westminster college.

PLAINGROVE

Miss Mary Dight's condition remains about the same.

Mrs. Manville Foster's condition remains about the same.

Walter Hogue is out again after having been laid up by scarlet fever.

Miss Mary George, who has been ill for several weeks remains about the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Brennaman motored to Parkers Landing and Clarion on Monday.

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Fulton have concluded a week's service at the Wurtemburg church.

The members of the I. O. O. F. lodge enjoyed an oyster supper held at their hall on Friday evening.

Jesse Hamilton, who has been ill for several weeks, seems to be slightly improved at this writing.

Mrs. Aschah Brennaman has returned after spending several days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joe Ligo.

Word has been received of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. William Feck, of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Feck was formerly Miss Mary Glenn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Glenn.

Rev. and Mrs. Harry Rose, of Akron, announce the birth of a daughter, who will answer to Martha Luella. Rev. Rose was formerly pastor at Plaingrove.

Mrs. Pearl Patterson has returned from having spent several days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Francis Boak. Mr. Boak has been on the sick list, but his condition seems to be improved.

The Y. P. C. U. of the Presbyterian church met at the home of Clarence and Isabelle Miles on Wednesday evening. Games and music were the diversions of the evening. After a short business meeting was conducted lunch was served by the social committee. The next meeting will be with Miss Lucille Sankey.

Headache

that may help you...
The first step toward relieving simple headache is to understand its cause. Pain is the cry of overtaxed nerves for rest. And when we realize that the nerves spread throughout every part of the body (see head diagram) we understand how serious a nervous disturbance can be.
In selecting a remedy for headache, periodic pains, and other nerve pain use one that soothes the tense nerves. Capudine is ideally suited for simple headache, neuralgic pain, rheumatic, or periodic pain because it relieves high nerve tension and brings welcome relaxation. No narcotics or opiates. Training School At First M. E. Is Ended Last Night

Fifth And Final Session Of Leadership Training School Is Conducted

The Leadership Training school held its fifth and final session at the First M. E. church Tuesday evening with good attendancee and interest. Dr. J. A. Galbraith, pastor of the Epworth M. E. church had charge of the devotional period and explained the twenty-third psalm in the light of his travels in the Holy Land. J. G. Clements was the song leader.

Dr. G. S. Bennett in his closing lecture of the Old Testament course continued the discussion of "The Unified Kingdom" taking up the death of David, the secession of Solomon, and the successes and failures which led to the final breaking up of his Kingdom. He also discussed the value of the Period of the United Kingdom, nationally, socially and religiously, as well as the literary development. Notes for reading were furnished on "The Divided Kingdom," "The Northern Kingdom of Israel" and "The Southern Kingdom of Judah".

Dr. C. H. Heaton had for his closing lecture and discussion the Prophetic Book of the New Testament which was the Revelation of Jesus Christ. He treated it as to its date, author, subject, principal divisions, suggestive chapter titles, the backbone of the Revelation, symbols and the interpretation of the four schools.

A vote of thanks was extended to Dr. Bennett and Dr. Heaton for the splendid inspiration and instruction that had been derived from the two courses.

YOUNG SLAYER IS ACQUITTED

Philadelphia Jury Frees Youth Who Killed His Father, Last June

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 27.—Frankie Budka, 20, who killed his father last June to save his mother from a beating, today was free, acquitted by a jury that deliberated his fate for only 15 minutes.

Budka's counsel pointed out the boy has had an unhappy life. His father was a drunkard and a wife-beater, the attorney said. His brother, Stanley, is a murderer serving a life term, while his other brother, John, was shot to death six years ago.

"The boy has had a hard time," said Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. Carroll, the prosecutor. "He is a victim of his environment. The verdict was proper."

Says Ontario Was Center Of Recent Quake

Pennsylvania Free From Serious Earthquakes For Several Hundred Years

HARRISBURG, Nov. 27.—The slight earth tremors felt in New England and as far south as Harrisburg recently, had their center perhaps in Ontario. They served as fair samples of 20 or more earthquakes that have disturbed Pennsylvania in the last 270 years. Comparatively few people have recognized or been disturbed by them because they have been so light as to cause little or no damage. In only a few instances have chimneys been toppled.

Reports made to Secretary of Internal Affairs Thomas A. Logue by the Bureau of Topographic and Geologic Survey in his department, tremors felt throughout the state occurred in 1848, 1858, 1884, 1886 and 1897. Quakes centering in Ontario were recognized at Warren and Meadville in 1857 and 1873. Allentown was lightly shaken in 1884, 1887 and 1914, and the vicinity of Harrisburg was shaken March 8, 1889 and April 9, 1918.

Although there have been no destructive earthquakes in Pennsylvania since the coming of white man to this country, Secretary Logue said, no one is in a position to say positively there will be none. The Charleston earthquake of 1886 had no recorded predecessors, he pointed out. Inasmuch as most of the tremors felt here have originated in Canada, New England or elsewhere outside the state, and as there is no definite evidence of movement along faults in the geologic structure of the state in the last 25,000 years, architects need not design buildings to resist earthquake shock, as they do in California and Japan, department records indicate.

Dean A. C. Burr To Discuss Plans

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 27.—Three experimental plans originating at Westminster College will be discussed at the Atlantic City meeting of the Eastern Association of College Deans by Dean Alex C. Burr, November 30.

The experimental measures to be explained to the association are the refunding of extra-hour tuition money to students whose grades are A or high B; independent summer study for credit, known as "Summer School At Half Price" by students; and automatic reduction of schedules for those whose grades fall to a low level.

Over 200 colleges will be represented at the meeting. Other problems to be taken up at the meeting will be student placement in positions; freshman housing; and general problems of college life.

Former Policeman Held In Robbery

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 27—Edward A. Jones, former city policeman, is in Mahoning county jail in default of $10,000 bond to await grand jury action on a charge of highway robbery.

Detective Thomas Bowser says Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Massullo have identified him as one of the two men who held them up last Friday and got $5,100.

Jones avers he found $900, which was on him when he was arrested, in an alley behind a theater here.

William Merkey, 9, of Columbia, Mo. is none the worse for having swallowed a 2 inch horseshoe nail. He was taken to a hospital, but physicians said it was unnecessary to operate.

BABY SUFFERS VIOLENT DEATH

(International News Service)

BALTIMORE, Nov. 27.—Whatever makes young babies cry, hunger, the need for attention or just outright exercising of the lungs, is believed to have caused seven-months-old Theresa Marie Planeuf to suffer a violent death.

The parents and the police fear the infant died from a beating administered by a boarder at the home because he was annoyed by her cries.

He was named as Charles Watson in a warrant sworn to by Edgar Phaneuf, of Parkville, Md., the father, charging him with assaulting and causing the death of a child.

FAMILY TOO BIG FOR WAGE SCALE

(International News Service)

CADIZ, O., Nov. 27.—Their father's wages as a hand on a steam shovel is not nearly enough to feed the hungry mouths of the 10 children of Sam Bryan but they are amply provided for by the diligence and resourcefulness of their mother.

The middle-aged Mrs. Bryan, utilizing the household hints she learned "by helping mother when I was a little girl", canned 1,349 quarts of fruits, vegetables and meats in the last preserving season to embellish the Bryan table until the next season rolls around.

New Lincoln-Zephyr V-12 On Display This Week At Francis Motor Sales Co.

THREE-QUARTER rear view of the new V-12 Lincoln-Zephyr, product of the combined resources of the Ford and Lincoln organizations and newest entry in the medium-price field, is illustrated in this four-door sedan type. It is the most completely streamlined car ever put into production. Its design is decidedly advanced, having no orthodox chassis or chassis frame. The car comprises a "bridge truss" body of extraordinary strength, in which the engine is mounted and to which the running gear is attached. The Lincoln-built 12-cylinder engine develops 110 horsepower. Wheelbase is 122 inches, springbase 133 inches. Center-poise spring suspension with record low center of gravity gives unusual riding comfort.

Utility Holding Act Is Attacked

Administration's Utility Act Attacked In Supreme Court

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The administration's utility Holding Company act was attacked here in the district supreme court Tuesday.

Declaring that the act threatened disruption of management and personnel, the North American company, a $300,000,000 holding company controlling utility interests in the east, filed suit for an injunction restraining application of the utility act.

The Security Exchange Commission, Attorney General Homer Cummings and Postmaster General James A. Farley were named as defendants.

Holdings of the North American company were described as principally embodying the Washington Railway and Electric company, the North American Edison company, the North American Light and Power company, the Western Power corporation, the Detroit Edison company, and the Pacific Gas and Electric company. Holdings in the last two companies named, it was explained, total but ten per cent.

Local Students Honored At Pitt

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—Recently 750 freshmen of the University of Pittsburgh assembled in Soldiers and Sailors Memorial hall where 118 were given honor for their merits as shown by their actions the first eight weeks of the school year. Out of a class of about 1000 men, 750 were given supoenas ordering them to appear at the assembly, which was conducted in the manner of a court proceeding. Plaques, mahogany base carrying a bronze seal of the university, were then given to the 118 men whose names were read out as being the most outstanding in several fields during the first eight weeks of the school year. These plaques were given for scholarships, activities, spirit toward the university and general cooperation with the custom program.

Men from New Castle who received this award were: John G. Thomas and Fred McCamic, both of whom entered the university this fall after graduating from the New Castle high school in January.

Book Binding Work Project

Under the supervision of Miss Rheba Sines, a book binding project is making progress in the administration building on East street. The project is employing seven young women who are engaged in repairing and binding books of the school system.

The work is needed and will result in a savings of much money to the schools. It also provides employment for a group of young women. Several hundred books are scheduled to be rebound and repaired.

Happy Holiday For Workers In Pittsburgh, Pa.

Increased Payrolls Give Workers Cause For Real Thanksgiving

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—Workers in the Pittsburgh district will have something really to give thanks for on Thanksgiving Day—more work and more pay.

The Bureau of Business Research of the University of Pittsburgh today reported the number of workers employed by district firms in October was at the greatest level since May, 1931, and that payrolls were the largest since April of the same year.

Stating that employment and wages "have improved steadily since about the middle of the summer," the bureau pointed out the new gains mean approximately 50,000 workers have returned to their jobs since July and that pay envelopes were about one-fourth greater in October than in July.

Travel Bureau Formed To Halt Hitch Hiking

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 27.—Hitch-hiking has been made scientific at Westminster college, with the organization of a "Travel Bureau" through which all students desiring rides to distant points turn in their names to the student council who seek to arrange free transportation for the "travel minded" and "homesick."

David Henderson, Pittsburgh, student council member, devised the plan. Since hitch-hiking is forbidden women students, and discouraged among the men, the plan was devised to eliminate long waits on wind-swept corners during zero weather, with thumbs pointed down the road.

Under the present plan, all students travelling with space for extra passengers and also students desiring rides, turn their names into the college office and arrangements made for free transportation.

Canadian Woman To Die On Gallows

(International News Service)

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Nov. 27.—The Christmas holidays today only brought death on the scaffold nearer for Mrs. Elizabeth Tilford, 48, after the Ontario court of appeals ruled it would not intervene in the hanging of the woman on December 17 for the poison murder of her husband.

No woman ever before has been hanged in Ontario province, and the last execution of a woman in Canada occurred in Quebec more than 25 years ago.

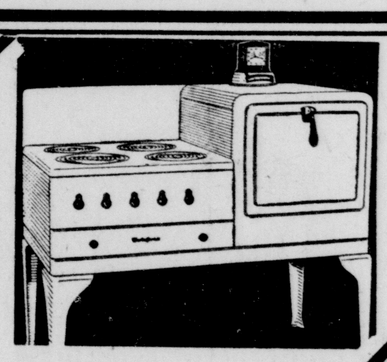

Need Consent To Plant Curb Trees

Edna Hopkins Reimold, secretary of the Shade Tree commission today stated that the commission is somewhat perturbed over people planting trees between curbs and sidewalks without first obtaining permission from the commission. The commission determines what kind of trees can be planted. Poplar trees and injurious to sewers, according to the commission.

G-MEN REDOUBLE EFFORTS TO GET ROBINSON

Evades Capture For Kidnaping

Federal Men Believe He May Be Masquerading As Woman

AID OF BARBERS BEING ENLISTED

By ALFRED T. NEWBERRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Smarting under the cleverness of Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., the nation's "No. 2" kidnaper, in eluding capture, the Department of Justice redoubled its efforts today to cut in on his trail.

The cutting in, Chief G-Man J. Edgar Hoover hopes, will be done by a certain class of workers never before enlisted in a body to help catch a federal fugitive—the nation's barbers and beauticians!

Enlists New Aid

Hoover has enlisted their aid on the belief the fair-faced Robinson might be galavanting around the country masqueraded as a well-dressed "woman."

A few weeks ago two New Yorkers reported they saw a woman whose face resembled that of the mad kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, a wealthy socialite of Louisville, Ky., in a Harlem night club. The G-men pooh-poohed these reports as "fantastic."

Nevertheless Hoover has gone to the time and the expense to prepare and circulate new posters bearing six pictures of Robinson, one showing him as a "woman."

The government's idea of how he would look as a wealthy female—he got $50,000 in ransom—pictures him wearing a smart turban-type hat placed rakishly upon his permanently-waved wig, and a coat with a higher fur collar concealing the adam's apple.

To Send Out Posters

"These new posters will be sent to every post office, police station and sheriff's office in the country, the department stated. "They also will be placed in barber shops and such places."

The G-men realize if the kidnaper is moving around as a dashing "merry widow" he must need the constant attention of barbers and beauticians to conceal his beard. They hope some barber or woman beautician will recognize him and call the police.

Robinson is anathema to the U. S. bureau of investigation. Hoover will not permit any discussion of the case which has baffled his agents since October 10, 1934.

Robinson has kept clear of the agents even though he practically left behind his name and address when he stalked out of the Stoll mansion with the pretty matron as his prisoner. And to add to the chagrin of the G-men, the number of every bill in the $50,000 ransom money he is known to be spending has been sent to every bank and to other public places in the country.

Fingerprint Value Cited In Incident

Bureau Of Investigation Cites Development In Case In New Castle

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Among a group of incidents citing the value of the fingerprint system of the Bureau of Investigation, the United States Justice Department tells how a would-be jobseeker in New Castle was identified as an ex-convict some time ago.

The Justice Department does not reveal the identity of the man, but says he applied for a certain job in New Castle some months ago. The chief of police of the city forwarded his fingerprints to the Bureau of Investigation. There the fingerprints were compared with others, and it was learned the man had a police record.

"It was found he had served time under an alias at Minnesota state reformatory for grand larceny and had been arrested under another alias for burglary by the police at Corning, N. Y.", the Justice Department says.

The Justice Department believes such service as this affords protection to employers.

LOYAL LADIES MEETING

Mrs. Earl Powell proved a pleasing hostess when she entertained the members of the Loyal Ladies' class at their monthly social gathering.

A short business meeting was held and plans were made for a Christmas gathering and also a missionary offering. Each woman sent a personal message to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wimer, who are located in Africa.

Mrs. I. A. Lytle had charge of the games. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. A. L. Graff, Mrs. Lutz, Mrs. Hoover and Mrs. R. J. Fredericks.

Mrs. Powell, assisted by her joint aide, Mrs. L. B. Beckert, served dainty refreshments. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out.

GAME SUPPER

The members of the Gun and Rod club of East New Castle enjoyed a game supper at Orr's hall on Monday evening. A hunt was enjoyed recently and sides were chosen and points given for different game. The losing side headed by G. E. Lawrence, feted the winners at a game supper.

SEWING FRIDAY

There will be an all-day sewing at the church on Friday of this week, with a tureen dinner to be served at noon.

SUN RISE SERVICE

There will be a sun rise service held at the Calvary church on Thanksgiving morning, beginning at 6:45. This program will be sponsored by the young people of Calvary church.

Former Resident Is Buried Today

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 27.—Funeral services for Samuel J. Dawson, 83, descendant of Revolutionary and Civil War soldiers, were held today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George Volkhart, 7621 Bennett street, where he died Monday. Mr. Dawson was born in New Castle, the son of Colonel George W. Dawson, commander of the Sixty-first Pennsylvania Volunteers, and a direct descendant of Captain Samuel Dawson, who served under General Washington in the Revolution. Surviving are a brother, Harry Dawson, and three daughters, Mrs. Volkhart, Mrs. Harry Leffert of Youngstown, O., and Mrs. Chester B. Anderson of McDonald, O.

HOW STEAM SHOVEL "TOOK TO WATER"

(International News Service)

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Nov. 27.—Cows and conestoga wagons and cars have forded streams before, but here's a steam shovel that "took to the water" to accomplish its job.

During construction of the new Clinton-Centre county bridge over Beech Creek it was necessary to make a new channel from the mill pool to the creek, the old channel being directly in the path for relocation of the road. The steam shovel needed on the job could not be transported with safety across the old bridge.

So shovel and crew lumbered down the creek below the dam and forded the stream to the Centre County side where both went to work excavating for the bridge abutment.

A somewhat different summer frock is a lilac pique which fits smoothly from high about the waist to well below the hips, then spreads to a full straight-cut skirt. Fuschia and deep violet ribbon is knotted at the throat.

STUDENT ABANDONS HIS TENT ABODE

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Cold weather has forced John D. Clendenin, Altoona, a Penn State freshman, to abandon his tent abode in Woodsdale, south of town, and to find himself a room.

Clendenin, who has been "under canvas" since the first of the semester, said he chose to live in a tent because of limited funds and because he didn't like to be "cooped up" in a room.

FAT Dangerous
Get Rid of It Quick
No need for undue alarm but it should be pointed out that fat interferes with the blood circulation, strangles heart action, shortens life. Fat folks tire easy, get winded quick, live in sluggish discomfort. Get rid of fat—harmlessly, easily, pleasantly—by using the means employed by nature to build fat as the means of getting rid of it. Reverse the entire fat making process. That's the secret of Korjena and Korjena alone does it. It calls a halt on fat formation. Then it harmlessly, decently, quietly tears down accumulated fat. The system doesn't know what's happening. Start with Korjena today. Laugh with joy as you see pounds disappear, often 7-10 in a single treatment, while living in comfort, eating what you please. Very first box of Korjena must satisfy or money refunded.

MY NEW YORK

By JAS. ASWELL

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Small Tales: He is package "boy" and handyman in a large Park Avenue apartment house. He is 62.

He walks with a queer, bent, shuffling gait and speaks grammatical, rather academic English in a piping, almost apologetic voice. Ten years ago he was well-to-do. In 1929 he came close to being rich.

He lived then in a building almost as imposing as the one for which he now works. He had an apartment and a library of limited editions and a Japanese valet. He had inherited his money.

The stock collapse came. He was in—up to his neck. He lost, not all at once, but slowly and steadily. He was an optimist. He used to say: "We're turning the corner. The worst is past." And then he'd sell his gilt-edged bonds and buy more stocks at new low prices.

The stocks went down and because he bought on margin, he was finally wiped out and in debt. He ended up in his present job, where the elevator boys jeer at him, where the doorman calls him (to his face) "Old Miss Fidgets."

But he would say: "What a fool I was! If I'd sold my stocks short, kept selling them when it was clear what was going to happen, I'd still be rich."

A month or two ago he won $11,000 in a lottery—his share on a ticket he hadn't enough cash (he needed $2.50) to buy all for himself. But he won the $11,000 and collected it. He said: "I'll never be such a fool again. I know what to do now."

There had been months of rising market. Stocks were high again. And so he got again into the market. He sold short—all those stocks he had lost his money on when they were going down.

You know what happened; the stocks boomed upward and he is broke again. But he says: "If I'd had a little more, could have hung on a little longer, we'd have seen the collapse. It's coming—mark my words."

* * *

She came to Greenwich Village from a small, Middle-Western town. She wanted to write. She wanted to paint. She wanted ART, with every letter capitalized. She also wanted a man—to get married; the art was what she told her friends she had come for.

She had a hard time of it in the Village. After a while she had to go to work. She waited on tables in restaurants called "The Pink Bullfinch" and "The Mauve Grasshopper." She wore an artist's smock in her off hours. Twelve years of it.

Somehow she never met the right man. She confided to her friends that she had such high ideals no man could measure up.

The other day she got married to a wholesale hardware salesman from a city 80 miles from the one in which she was born. I saw her after her wedding. She had had a couple of beakers of champagne and she told me confidentially:

"Thank heavens I came to New York. It's the only city in the world for me. Cosmopolitan. Sophisticated. Smart. Why, I might have stayed back home and been tied to some country bumpkin by now."

* * *

He is middle-aged. He has tried everything—business, the hunt for buried gold in far places, writing novels, newspaper work. He has failed in everything he ever tried.

The other day he took me aside and asked to borrow five dollars.

City Trucks Now Collect Beer Cans

Sale of beer in cans in this city has added woes to the garbage employes, according to Howard Phillips, superintendent of the collection and disposal of garbage.

He said today that one truck used to haul garbage is in the city's repair shop and that four trucks are employed to haul garbage and one to dispose of tin cans.

"Would you say that several truck loads each month are disposed of by your department?" he was asked.

Revision Board Meets November 29

November 29 has been set by council as the time for the solons to meet as a board of tax appeals and revision, relative to objections made on assessments for new properties built this year. The meeting will be held Friday morning in council chambers, city hall.

Local Man One Of Trio In Custody

The trio was arrested a week ago, it being alleged by Charles L. Slusser, of Louisville, that they had swindled him out of $2,500 in a false arrest racket at Canton.

Slusser was unable to identify the men at Canton. However, police said they later were linked with an attempt to obtain money from Pauline Sandru, at Canton, by posing as federal officers.

BESSEMER

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The chairman of the various active committees of the Ladies' Auxiliary and the newly elected officers gathered at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Martin on Wednesday evening and held their first executive meeting. Plans were made for the annual Christmas party which will come on December 17, at 6:30. This will be a tureen supper and will include post members, auxiliary members and families. The activities for the year were planned. The members present were Helen Wallis, Maude Carr, Laura Seltzer, Frances Campbell, Anna Bell, Sara McCord, Edna Masson, Genevieve Lago and Mrs. Martin.

WILL PACK BOX

The rehabilitation committee with Mrs. Helen Wallis as chairman, will pack a Christmas box for the disabled veterans at Coltsville hospital. The articles requested for the box are: Cigarettes, neckties, socks, handkerchiefs, playing cards, pencils, writing paper and envelopes, pipes, smoking tobacco. These articles are asked to be brought to the next meeting which will fall on Monday, December 9.

LADIES' AUXILIARY MEETING

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary was held on Monday evening when Beth Martin was in charge of business. SHARON WILL BRING STRONG TEAM HERE

Thanksgiving Day Game Will Be Best Of Year, Indicated

New Castle High School "Red Hurricane" Football Team Will End 1935 Season; Seek Tenth Victory Of Year; Sharon High Will Send Powerful Team To New Castle; Special Train Will Carry Fans From Sharon; Home-Coming Day Plans Complete; Expect Crowd Of Close To 10,000 To Witness Schoolboy Battle.

WITH A happy holiday crowd in the stands, two highly trained and capable football teams will take their places shortly after 2:15 o'clock Thursday at Taggart stadium for the annual Thanksgiving Day grid feast here. New Castle high "Red Hurricanes" will be after its 10th victory of the year. Sharon high's big orange and black team will be after its eighth straight victory. The battle promises to be one of the best of the 1935 season. There is keen rivalry between these two neighboring towns. Sharon will send a big crowd here for the game. In event of good weather a "Turkey Day" crowd of 10,000 fans will no doubt file through the turnstiles.

Sharon high brings to New Castle a championship team. The Sharon boys won the N. W. P. I. A. L. this year and also the Mercer county title. Interest in both towns in the game is at fever heat. New Castle high is installed the favorites due to the better looking record. It is bound to be a football game worth seeing. Both teams will give everything they have. There will not be any use of holding plays back, as it will be the final game for both teams. Forward passes and laterals will no doubt fill the air as the boys battle back and forth over the greensward at Taggart stadium.

Bear Stories.

"Bear stories" have floated into New Castle all week long about the injured Sharon high stars, but you can bet your plugged nickel that when the game starts Head Coach Davey Stewart will have his strongest possible lineup on the field, and there will not be any cripples.

Seaman, Diven and Oliver are the men listed as hospital patients, by the Sharon sports writers. New Castle can almost match the Sharon injured list with two bright stars who (absolutely will not) get into the game—Eddie Donegan with a severe back injury and Harvey Jokinen with a recent hip operation.

Look For Big Score.

The "Red Hurricane" horde swarmed all over the Sharon stadium last year and unleashed everything they had, but it was not enough to score. Sharon couldn't score either. It was one of those games. This year it promises to be vastly different, with both teams flaunting strong offensive threats. It would not be surprising to see a big score tomorrow. Maybe four or five touchdowns. It's almost a safe bet that it won't be 0-0.

Nothing would please the Sharonites more than to upset the New Castle apple-cart that has been so hard to upset for many years past. If hard work and long hours of drills mean anything, the Sharon boys should win, as they have spent long hours for the past week in getting ready for New Castle.

The New Castle boys under the watchful eye of Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh have also spent long hours at the practice field. This game means a lot to both teams. Not that any titles are at stake. It's just a regular New Castle-Sharon game and they always have plenty of color.

Cox or Perrett.

In place of the injured Eddie Donegan, Bridenbaugh will either call upon Leroy Cox, the colored speedster of last year, or on "Dudy" Perrett, the fast Italian boy, who has shown up well in his few appearances this year. At the right guard job will probably be Louie Leonard, a big rangy, tough hombre, who has earned a starting berth. At center in place of Adamo will be Vargo, a lad who is destined to become a valuable man with a little more experience.

The New Castle backfield will have Dal Mumford at quarter, with Engs and Cox or Perrett at the halves and Domenick "Gabby" DeCaprio, the bone-crusher Italian boy, at fullback. DeCaprio is the leading scorer on the New Castle team this year, and he is one of the most valuable men on the squad.

Toscano Ends Career.

On the line Harry "Kaiser" Toscano will be playing his final game, at end, and without a doubt this Italian boy is one of the finest ends that New Castle has ever had. Toscano worked hard to win a varsity berth, but once he got in the first team lineup he never was dislodged. Toscano is one of the most deadly tacklers on the team, and is a world of strength on the offense. He is captain of the team and one of the most popular young boys on the squad.

Playing next to Toscano is another valuable man who will draw on his cleats for the final time on Thursday, he is Franklin "Tarzan" Crisci, big Croton boy, who stepped into the varsity tackle job this year and made good. He is a vicious tackler and with his 195 pounds is one of the mainstays of the offensive drive near the goal line. Crisci is one of the hardest workers on the squad.

Good Backfield.

Sharon will bring a set of backfield men here led by Steve Klaric at quarter, Seaman and Niec at the halves and Syslo at fullback, who will thrill the fans with their open field running, punting and passing. This is a veteran combination and all are dangerous threats.

About the only thing that is needed is a lot of nice weather by the dear weatherman and everything will be "hunkadory" as the saying goes. The gates at Taggart field will swing open at 1 o'clock. The fans will start to pour in. By 2:15 o'clock there will be a seething mass of humanity in the spacious football arena waiting for the football boys to start activities.

Colorful Throng.

Plans have been completed for the big Home-Coming Day celebration. There will be a flag raising by the Boy Scouts. The stadium will be dressed up in bright red and black and orange and black streamers. It will be one big gala holiday scene with the women bedecked in furs and flowers and the men wearing their Thanksgiving finery.

You just naturally associate Thanksgiving with football or vice versa, and well, so is pumpkin pie and turkeys associated with November 28.

Short Program At Grid Game

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of Senior High today announced the following short program for the moments preceding the New Castle-Sharon grid battle tomorrow afternoon. The ceremony will get under way at 2 o'clock.

Introduction at 2 o'clock over the public address system of Frank L. Orth, principal of New Castle Senior high, who will say a few words of greeting to the Sharon students and fans.

P. A. Jones, principal of Sharon high school will respond to the talk by Mr. Orth on behalf of the Sharon high students and fans.

Flag raising ceremony at southern end of the field with a Boy Scout troop of New Castle taking part in the raising of "Old Glory." The entire assemblage will be asked to stand and sing one verse of "The Star Spangled Banner," led by George Anthony and Harry Evans. The New Castle high band will furnish the music for the occasion.

It was announced that Boy Scout Troop V-37, Kiwanis troop, led by Robert "Bob" Cole, will raise the flag at Taggart Stadium Thursday afternoon.

Students Will Stage Parade Here Tonight

Pep Chapel Will Be Held At Senior High School At 7:15 P. M.

SEVEN SPEAKERS ARE ON PROGRAM

An old-fashioned pep meeting and parade by the New Castle high school students will occur tonight. The gathering time is 7:15 p. m. and the scene will be senior high auditorium. The reason will be to pep up the city for the New Castle and Sharon grid game at Taggart stadium.

If you happen to be downtown around 8 o'clock tonight, don't become alarmed over what may sound like a small-sized riot or army, it will be the marching feet of hundreds of high school students and football fans.

Chief of Police John Haven has promised a police escort for the marchers tonight, as they wend their way through the downtown traffic. This is a real old-time celebration. Not for several years has this sort of pep been displayed over a football game.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner will act as master of ceremonies and will call upon the following persons for short talks:

Attorney George W. Muse, former football star.

Joe Replogle will have the New Castle high band at the rally tonight at senior high and will lead the parade as they wend their way down the hill and march over town.

The students have promised to make the old town rock with cheers tonight. A special ceremony by the students will end at either the Shenango river or Neshannock creek, where a "mock" burial will take place.

Motorists are asked to take precaution in driving through East Washington street after the parade starts. There will be several hundred students and fans in the line of march.

GREGOR AT SHARON

Richard "Dick" Gregor, president of the Student Council at senior high, will go to Sharon this afternoon to take part in the pep chapel being held at Sharon high. A Sharon boy will return with Gregor to New Castle to speak here tonight.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Along Broadway today we find....Ford Frick, boyish national league prexy, all smiles....because he believes that financial stringency of the Braves will be straightened out today....

And Captain Pat Echols, all frowns, because he has no more tickets to sell to the Army-Navy game...the usually genial captain was morning low because he's had to return $71,720 to prospective seat buyers.

Seven To Play In Their Last Game Thursday

Toscano, Crisci, Nocera, Cabas, Malley, Krezo And Bloise, To Go

EDDIE DONEGAN WILL BE MISSING

AS NEW CASTLE high "Red Hurricane" football team trots out on the greensward of Taggart stadium to do battle with Sharon high, ancient rivals on Thanksgiving day seven of the boys will be wearing the red and black colors for the last time.

Graduation and semester ruling will take such stars as Harry "Kaiser" Toscano, one of the finest ends New Castle has ever had; Frank Crisci, a bearcat at tackle; Filbert "Midget" Nocera, the boy who has held down the right end job successfully this year despite his size and the unpleasantries of injuries.

Cabas Is Through.

Johnnie Cabas, the reserve quarterback this year, will play his final game. Cabas has subbed for Mumford this year and has done an excellent job, he will be missed next year. Cabas is one of the hardest workers on the squad.

"Dynamite" Malley, the boy who understudied Adamo at center, will be playing his final game. He is not very big, but packs quite a wallop as a tackler and if he had another year on the squad he would be the regular center.

Albert "Whitey" Krezo, the reserve end this year will be playing his final game, and will be missed next year. Krezo subbed for the injured Nocera this year and held down the right end job in fine style. He is a hard worker and popular with the boys.

Eddie Donegan, star right halfback, who injured his back at New Kensington, will be missing when the team goes to camp next August. Donegan is a senior. Without a doubt this youngster for his size was about as good a halfback as New Castle ever had. He only weighed about 145 at anytime, but he could squirm through tackle for big gains, and he could run the ends. Donegan is going to be sorely missed next year.

Sam Bloise, a reserve for two years, will also play in his final game. Bloise has been used at guard and tackle and is a hard worker, although he was never on the varsity he tried hard just the same and deserves a lot of credit.

Church Floor League Starts Friday Night

Class AA League Opens With Three Games At "Y" Floor

The New Castle Church basketball league Class AA league will open its 1935-36 season Friday night at the Y. M. C. A. floor at 8:00 o'clock. There will be three games on the program according to Henry MacNicholas, physical director at the "Y" and in charge of the league. There will be one Class AA league game Saturday night.

The Church Class A league will not open until Monday night December 2. There are eight teams in Class AA league and six in the Class A group.

Games in the Class AA league for Friday night are as follows:

First Christians vs. First Baptists.
St. Michaels vs. Epworth M. E.
St. Nicholas vs. Sacred Hearts.

Game Saturday

Tifereth Israel vs. Central Christians.

Kliskey Named As Pitt Leader

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27—Unanimously selected by his coach and team mates, Nicholas Kliskey, rugged pivot man from North Braddock, today prepared to end his varsity gridiron career by guiding the University of Pittsburgh Jungle Cats against Carnegie Tech in their annual turkey-day struggle here tomorrow.

Sharon Band To Play For Game

New Castle will have the distinction of seeing and hearing the Sharon high uniformed band for the first time Thanksgiving Day when they parade out onto Taggart stadium.

The Sharon high band will be brought here by bus, according to P. A. Jones, principal of the high school. The band uniforms were ordered several days ago after a popular subscription had been taken up.

The uniforms had been promised for today, and if they don't arrive in Sharon, there is going to be about 50 or 60 very disappointed young musicians, who are planning a trip to New Castle and are also anxious to appear in the bright orange and black uniforms for the first time.

Bessemer High Gridders Dine

County Champions Eat Turkey, Listen To Fine Program

COACH FREDERICKS ACTS AS TOASTMASTER

Sing the praises of Bessemer high football team, county league champions for the second straight year, and that's just exactly what they did last night at Bessemer high, when 46 persons gathered and sang the praises of Coach J. K. Fredericks and his Bessemer high champs.

The dinner got under way at 6:30 o'clock, and it was a real old-fashioned turkey dinner and all the necessary side dishes and pumpkin pie and everything, and of course one can sing lots of praises after stowing away about half of a turkey, done as they should be done.

Eight Will Graduate

Following the dinner Coach J. K. Fredericks assumed the role of toastmaster and proved to be one of the best ever heard in Bessemer as he waxed humorous and told of many amusing incidents that cropped out during the football season. Fredericks in a short talk praised the Bessemer high team this year as one of the finest groups of boys that he has ever coached. "It was a pleasure to work with the boys we had this year," was the way Fredericks put it. He praised the work of the eight boys who have played their final game for Bessemer and said that they would be sorely missed next year when it came football time.

Fredericks named the following boys who have ended their Bessemer high grid careers: Captain Frank Bonnaci, Arthur Poushey, Johnnie Marshall, Arthur Williams, Archie Young, Johnny Pepe, Richard Murphy, Joe Scott. Letters will be awarded to these boys at a later date.

Nord Speaks

G. E. Nord, supervising principal of Bessemer schools, was the first speaker called upon, and he responded with an excellent talk, saying that he was proud of the Bessemer high record on the football field and that promised the co-operation of the school. He also had a word of praise for the coach, J. K. Fredericks, who has placed athletics at Bessemer high on a high sphere. Nord also spoke of the high caliber of boys who were on the football team this fall.

Captain Frank Bonnaci was called upon and he gave a fine talk, in which he thanked the boys for their

Pitt Team Best During November

Pitt Gridders Have Excellent Record Of Victories In November

Coach Jock Sutherland Hustles To Explain Reason For Oddity

By VICTOR JACOBS
International News Service Sports Writer.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—In September they're challenging; in October they're terrifying, but in November "Jock" Southerland's mighty Panthers from the University of Pittsburg are veritable Samsons of the collegiate gridiron.

That fact was strikingly brought out today in a study which showed that the blue and gold lost but two out of 45 games played in November months since Sutherland took over the coaching reins in 1924.

Better In November.

It is a tribute to the record of the silent Scot that his teams have fought their way through blustery winds and stiff 11th-month opposition to 38 victories and seven ties in those contests. To say the least, his teams are progressive since most Pitt defeats were suffered in preceding months.

Here's the way he expounds it:

"By November the inexperienced players are not making so many mistakes on the defense. They are harder to fool. Players are performing duties more mechanically on offense. They are not stopping to think what to do on each play, but are doing it without slowing up. Plays that failed to click in October because someone missed an assignment are now working, and often one play wins or loses a football game."

One of the two "unusual" defeats came in "Jock's baptismal year when W. & J., then an eastern power, beat the Panthers 10-0. The other followed six years later in 1930 when a tough bunch of Buckeyes from Ohio State backed them into the lairs to the tune of 16-6.

Curiously, all but one of the November ties, a 7-7 deadlock with Syracuse in the first November game in which Sutherland piloted the golden cats, were scoreless affairs, the last of which Fordham wrought in an upset several weeks ago. Nebraska with three and W. & J. with two scoreless ties against Pitt intermittently from 1926 through 1932, account for the others.

Perfect Records.

The Panthers had perfect November records in the years 1925, '29, '31, '33 and '34, and never lost or tied more than one game in the four they have played in each of those years. During those times they rolled up 886 points to only 152 for the enemy, holding their opponents scoreless in 28 of those encounters.

Carnegie Tech has never beaten Pitt since their annual game was made a November feature in 1929, so it must be with some amount of qualm that the Tartans come up to their Thanksgiving Day battle in the face of those odds.

New York U. Or Holy Cross May Get Coast Bid

Stanford Will Wait Until After Saturday To Name Rose Bowl Opponents

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—It is my information that, if New York university can and does beat Fordham at the Yankee stadium tomorrow, it will be invited forthwith and in all haste to appear in the Rose Bowl game against Stanford on New Year's Day. It probably will be a reluctant invitation at best, a point of expediency rather than choice.

The choice would be either of the southwest contenders, Texas Christian or Southern Methodist, only it now seems probable that the coast people, if and provided N. Y. U. finishes unbeaten, will feel that they cannot afford to take a chance as long as that. One or the other of the southwest candidates probably will be eliminated on Saturday when they meet in the pay-ball event of the year down there, but that doesn't close the season. They don't close the season down there. They let it end.

Just Suppose.

Suppose, for example, Southern Methodist beats Texas Christian in the 11th game of the year for both teams and then loses the 12th to Texas A. & M. on December 7. That it by no means a remote possibility and the effect would be ruinous. A. & M., a fighting but not especially gifted team, has been beaten by Texas Christian, Rice, Baylor and Arkansas.

Suppose the Christians win on Saturday and then, on December 7, blow one to Santa Clara on the coast? Santa Clara has lost out there to California, Washington, Stanford and St. Mary's.

Holy Cross In Line.

That's where an unbeaten N. Y. U. comes in. It might not be the best possible opponent but at least the Rose Bowl management would be able to sleep at night.

The rest of the field, barring Holy Cross, has been temporarily eliminated. It has done this itself, either through choice as in the case of Princeton and Minnesota or by losing one or more games. As for Holy Cross, the coast doesn't like that tie with Manhattan. Neither does Holy Cross. There was a decision made in this game at a critical moment, contributing greatly to the tie score.

League Takes Over Braves

National League Will Operate Boston Team Till Buyer Comes Along

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The National league today is composed of seven professional baseball clubs and the Boston Braves.

The league acquired the Hub headache yesterday when it voted the franchise forfeited for failure to meet its obligations.

This means the league may, if it so decrees, sell the franchise or any or all of the players to the highest bidder. This is highly improbable.

Up To Stockholders.

The league intends to give the old stockholders until the annual league meeting Dec. 10 to find a way out of their dilemma. If, by that time, stockholders can get together on a reorganization plan, they can recapture the club provided the debts are paid.

In other words, new capital is needed. Legally, the league could sell the club to the highest bidder and leave the creditors and stockholders out in the cold.

But, according to Ford Frick, president of the league, no such action will be taken.

It is considered probable Charles Adams and Frank Murphy, two of the wealthiest and largest stockholders in the club, will get together on a reorganization plan.

Several schemes were put forward yesterday but none was acceptable to all parties concerned.

Duke Gridder Secretly Wed

Captain James F. Fillingham, Wedded More Than Year, Just Found Out

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—The secret's out today why Duquesne university's football team ended the season in a blaze of glory.

Captain James Frederick Fillingham, right halfback, otherwise known as "Toots", was inspired, and the reason was Mrs. James Frederick Fillingham, who until today was known only as Thelma Stevenson of Charleroi.

Of course, she was Mrs. Fillingham all the time, since last March 19, when the couple decided to make an end run to Wellsburg, W. Va., but it would have been too bad for Fillingham's football career if the university had known it.

A graduate of California State Teachers' college, the bride has been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stevenson. Fillingham, who will be graduated next June, will make his home with the bride's parents, he revealed.

Titans To Play Heavy Schedule

Floor Schedule Will Open Early In December With Wooster

BENNETT WILL BE BACK WITH TEAM

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Nov. 27—Facing one of the toughest schedules Westminster college has ever played, Coach John Lawther cut his quad down to fifteen men today in preparation for the first game of a 26 game booking, with Wooster College, December 7, at New Wilmington.

The loss of such regulars as big Pete Leyshock and Ray Sweeney, forwards, and John Wilhelm, one of the best Titan guards ever developed, leave difficult gaps to fill. Sweeney and Wilhelm graduated last year, but Leyshock, eligible for one more year of basketball, failed to return to school this fall.

Among the bright sports on the Titan court, is Wes Bennett, senior, nation's highest scorer in 1933-34; "Swede" Hunneke, New York boy, who developed last year into a hard fighting and dangerous guard; and John Krivosh, Sharon sophomore, 6 feet 2 inches tall and weighing 200 pounds, a fast, powerful guard, rated one of the best in the conference.

Paul Backus, Youngstown center, sophomore, is showing good form, after a rather bad start as a freshman last year. Backus is one of the cleverest passers on the Titan squad and although weighing only 160 pounds with 6 feet 3 inches in height, he has tremendous endurance. Jack Willits, Ford City senior, has one of the best basket eyes on the squad and is one of the brainiest players.

Andy Demo, smallest of the Titans, from St. Mary's has been developing fast this season, after failing to make his letter last year..

Among the freshmen candidates for the squad, Mike Pawk, husky Butler forward; Stevenson , rangy blonde center from Farrell and Ray Bellingham, 6 feet 6 inches tall, from Wesleyville, have been showing the best basketball skill. Kenneth Grubb, freshmen, former Youngstown star, recent transfer to Westminster from Ohio State, is expected to make the first string squad.

Robert Arrowsmith, varsity quarterback and a fast man on the basketball floor, senior from Erie, is out but has been handicapped with a bad ankle, a hangover from a gridiron mishap. "Susie" Gilliland, sophomore guard, New Wilmington has developed fast this year.

Only 9 of the Titans 26 games are at home. Two Eastern trips will carry the Westminster courtmen over 3,000 miles before the season is over. A Christmas journey will take them into New York, New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania; a February trip will take them into Washington, D. C., to meet George Washington university.

With a record in the past nine years of seven conference championships and four district championships, Coach Lawther faces the most discouraging year of his coaching career at Westminster. The Titans will be weaker than last year, due to failure to find competent replacements for such court-stars as Leyshock, Sweeney, and Wilhelm.

The Westminster court schedule:
Dec. 7—Wooster college at home.
Dec. 10—Akron Goodyear at home.
Dec. 16—Villanova at Philadelphia.
Dec. 18—St. Johns at New York.
Dec. 20—John Marshall at Jersey City.
Dec. 21—West Chester at Philadelphia.
Jan. 4—Youngstown College at home.

TURKEYS KEPT IN CITY LOCKUP

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—You'll have to wait until after Thanksgiving if you want to get arrested in West Homestead, because the "cooler" is now full of jailbirds, Police Chief Harold Russell announced today.

A new crime wave, not that, Russell assures. Only for want of better storage facilities 50 fat turkeys were clucking in their none-too-gilded cages, taking up all available space.

The birds were roosted in the jail for safe keeping as prizes for a bingo game for the benefit of the borough's under privileged children.

Mack May Sell His Athletics

Possibility That New Owners, If So, Will Not Keep Mack As Manager

EARLE MACK IS SLATED TO GO

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—If there turns out to be anything in that story from Philadelphia about the business men of the town buying the ball club from Connie Mack and the Shibes, it may surprise you to know that Mr. Mack might not be retained as manager, provided he wants the job under those conditions. I know it surprised me. I always felt that, no matter what the set up or ownership in Philadelphia might be, the venerable Mr. Mack was so far an institution that he must remain until such time as he walked out one evening and forgot to come back.

But it seems now that a lot of people over there have practically stopped worrying about the old man's memory; in fact, they're beginning to hope it's bad.

Macks Get Blame

Others, more charitable, may blame the position of the ball club on the failure of the pitchers or on lack of money, although that's charity, indeed, in view of $300,000 worth of player-sales in the last two years. Anyhow, the town blames Mr. Mack and, incidentally, Mr. Mack's son, Earle.

As I recall him, the latter wasn't even a good minor leaguer. Admittedly, that fact alone isn't conclusive. What seems to be much more so is that the Philadelphia Athletics finished last in the American League with hitters like Foxx, Johnson, Moses, Higgins and Cramer; a good infield and an excellent outfield, probably the best in the league.

That's where Earle Mack comes in. He handles the pitchers, develops them; in a word, teaches them all he knows.

"Rockets" Coach Will Be Honored

Three Hundred Pupils To Fete Mentor Of Slippery Rock Teachers College

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Nov 27—Letters notifying more than 300 athletes who have played ball under Coach N. K. Thompson will be mailed out for the alumni varsity dinner which will be held at the Brakenridge Country Club on December 20.

The affair will take the form of a testimonial to the veteran coach, who has just closed his eighteenth year as head of athletics at the Slippery Rock Teacher's College.

Slippery Rock where physical education is taught, perhaps has more high school athletic coaches in Pennsylvania than any other institution. These boys, numbering some 300 will gather for the dinner, which is to be an annual affair, and to honor the Slippery Rock leader, who has been head of athletics for so many years.

Al Dunn, physical education instructor at New Kensington, is president of the Alumni Varsity Association and Charles McDonald, an honorary member is secretary. Serving on the arrangement committee are John Komora, Erie East High; Nels Kruger, DuBois; Alexander Delle Valle, Clairton; Theodore Griner, New Kensington; Paul Sager, Ben Avon; Stanley Berkman, Monaca; Joe Barnett, Brookville, Kenneth Westlake. Slippery Rock; Nick Hjelta, Slippery Rock, and Neenie Campbell, Ford City.

co-operation this year and paid a high tribute to the coaching ability of Coach Fredericks and his capable assistants, Capezzuto and Thomas.

Pledges Support

Dr. Frank Campbell, member of the Bessemer school board, was called upon and gave a talk on athletics, saying that Bessemer high holds a high place in the county through its athletic teams. He congratulated Coach Fredericks and the Bessemer high team on their achievement this year in winning for the second straight year the Lawrence county championship.

D. D. 'Monty" Montgomery, prominent Bessemer citizen, was called upon and responded with a fine talk, saying that Bessemer was proud of the football team this year and promised the support of the town in anything that Bessemer high wanted to do.

There were 48 present at the banquet, including the Bessemer high team, members of the school board, and a few invited guests. The banquet numbers among the other successful events that have been held in Bessemer.

Three Plead Guilty To Stealing Turkeys

BUTLER, Pa., Nov. 27.—Thanksgiving gorging came a bit early this year for two men and a 15-year-old boy, who pleaded guilty before Alderman John D. Clark to charges of stealing five turkeys from the Harry C. Kennedy farm in Winfield township.

The men, Edward Thompson, 29, and William Williams, 25, and the boy whose name is withheld because of his youth, are all from Butler, R. D. 3, it is said.

State police, who made the arrests, said the trio had eaten the turkeys, which were valued at $25.

Approximately 700 Cases This Year

Approximately 700 persons here suffered from some sort of contagion during 1935 so far, according to statistics at the department of health. No typhoid fever or smallpox was included in the contagion this year.

THE SILLIEST SEASON

Some of the best minds in the football forecasting profession are tottering. Surely this season has produced the strangest scores an expert ever fumbled with.

Notre Dame is a good one to start with. That was a brilliant victory the Irish scored over Ohio State. You know what happened the following week. Northwestern, a team that Ohio State had taken in stride stepped out and smacked down the South Benders.

Go on from there. The Irish beat Pittsburgh by a score of 9 to 6. The Panthers in turn clawed the Army to pieces, 29 to 6. That ought to make Notre Dame a 2 to 1 favorite over the Cadets. Certainly, and the final score: Army 6, Notre Dame 6. A nice snappy draw.

Peculiar things arise in the Big Ten. Purdue gives Chicago a football lesson. Profiting by the 10 to 0 shellacking at the hands of the Boilermakers, Chicago decides to beat somebody. The victim is Wisconsin. The poor benighted Badgers? Not at all. Wisconsin turns right around and hands the lesson back to Purdue.

IT'S PSYCHOPATHIC

It goes on below the Mason-Dixon line, too. North Carolina proves itself three touchdowns better than Georgia Tech. In turn, Georgia Tech proves itself a touchdown better than Duke. That ought to make North Carolina four touchdowns better than Duke, hadn't it? All right—they play, and what's the score? Duke 25, North Carolina 0. It can't be. Probably a misprint.

A touchdown is not as dependable as a logarithm. Ask the boys up at Marquette. Marquette was a touchdown better than Michigan State, and Michigan State was a touchdown better than Temple. The net result? Temple was three touchdowns better than Marquette. It's all very simple. Look at the scores.

Very bad situation on the Pacific coast. The professors note that Oregon State can beat Southern California 13 to 7; Southern California can beat Washington State 20 to 10, but when Oregon State and Washington State meet, the team that lost to Southern California beats the team that beat Southern California, and by two convincing touchdowns, at that. This is becoming weird.

IN THE BAD LANDS

How are things in that part of the west where Indians used to waylay all prairie schooners not streamlined. The answer is: Bad. Look at Nebraska. There's a ball club that beat Oklahoma 19 to 0. Fine. Oklahoma beat Kansas State 3 to 0. Nebraska ought to slay Kansas State. Certainly. But the net result when these giants of the west came to grips was exactly zero for both sides.

Now Kansas happens to be able to beat Kansas State. Therefore, Kansas ought to beat Nebraska. But no. What Kansas does is take it on the chin from Nebraska 19 to 13.

When Vanderbilt meets Mississippi State, Vanderbilt wins. Undaunted, Mississippi State steps out and knocks off Army. Meanwhile the same Vanderbilt loses to Fordham, a team which ties Pittsburgh, and if Pittsburgh isn't the same team that beat the Army 29 to 6, just what Pittsburgh is it?

Navy doses to Princeton by a jolly 26 points. The same Navy team beat Pennsylvania, however, 13 to 0. Princeton should be 39 fine, fat points better than Penn, right? The score: Princeton 7, Penn 6.

Tennessee beats Auburn and Auburn beats Duke and Duke beats Tennessee. Where does it all end? Right here!

Seek To Borrow Fire Engine To Give Morgue Bath

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—Allegheny county today was trying to borrow a fire engine from the City of Pittsburgh so the court house and morgue can be given a bath.

Commissioner W. D. Mansfield objected to the cost of steam cleaning and chemicals usually used, so he and County Superintendent of Buildings Eugene L. Crow were named a committee to ask Mayor William N. McNair for the use of a fire engine.

Southern Team May Get Bid To Rose Bowl Game

Southern Methodist And Texas Christian In Line, Meet This Week

By HAROLD HEROUX
International News Service Sports Writer.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Nov. 27.—Student sentiment here about Stanford's opponent for the Rose Bowl game on New Year's Day was divided into three factions.

1. Favors inviting Notre Dame despite the Irish's announcement they prefer no post-season games.

2. Favors inviting the winner of the Southern Methodist - Texas Christian game at Fort Worth on Saturday.

3. Favors inviting Minnesota or Princeton despite semi-official word from these institutions they "can't make the trip" or inviting New York university or Holy Cross, both undefeated.

Alfred R. Masters, Standford graduate manager, and "Tiny" Thornhill, head coach, are keeping "mum". They will do the selecting after holding a conference with the board of athletic control. And, they will make no public announcement until the opponent has accepted the invitation.

Faction No. 3 is "out of luck", according to student leaders, thus simmering the selection to Notre Dame, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian.

Because a store keeper in Edinburgh, Scotland, tore down charity bills which Alexander Robertson placed on a nearby board Robertson smeared the merchant's windows with potato chips nightly until surprised and arrested by the police.

Stock Market Stronger Today

Rails And Steels Strongest Items On Market List Today

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The stock market took on a stronger tone today in response to the news from Paris that Premier Laval was likely to weather the crisis at the French Chamber of Deputies meeting tomorrow.

Other factors were the better internal market structure after the reaction of the last two days and bullish mid-week trade reviews. Power production went to a new record high, steel operations advanced and railroad traffic made a better than seasonal showing.

Rails and steels were the strongest. Gains in rails ran to nearly a point. Illinois Central went to a new high.

Utilities were unsettled for a while due to the S. E. C. move to force Electric Bond & Share to register but were supported by the bullish power figures.

PAVING PLANS MAY BE APPROVED

City Officials Return Home From Conference In Optimistic Mood

City Engineer G. R. Throop and Councilmen D. O. Davies and J. D. Alexander have returned from a conference with WPA officials at Harrisburg relative to New Castle's street paving program. Throop, acting as spokesmen in council today reported to colleagues that the trio was informed that the city's plans for the paving projects were in conformity with WPA plans and that the city may expect approval at Harrisburg.

Some time ago the city asked the WPA to approve the paving with amiesite of eight thoroughfares. He said at that time if the plans were approved plans for paving 16 additional thoroughfares would be prepared.

Throop added that the WPA at Harrisburg had assured him the city's unit cost plan is satisfactory and that there probably would be no delay in approval at Harrisburg of paving projects.

Incoming Officials Have Not Made Slates

Will Provide Information Through Newspaper When They Take Office

Mayor-elect Charles McGrath and Councilmen-elect Fink and Rice today attended councilmanic session at city hall. They have been, and no doubt will continue to be interested in all that the present council does. They were invited sometime ago by the present incumbents to attend all their meetings.

Following council session, the officials-to-be were asked by a reporter if they had made up their city hall slates. All of them said they had not but admitted however, that many rumors are current. The incoming officers said that when the time becomes appropriate, in January they would outline their plans through The News.

Council Passes Three Ordinances

One called for payment of $1,484, for a heating plant at the city golf course, another provided for the construction of a sanitary sewer in Center street and the third permitted the expenditure of funds appropriated in October, 1934, for material to pave streets and alleys for general improvements to be aided by the WPA.

ARREST TWO ON CHARGE OF SUSPICION

Pete De Palmo and a girl who gave her name as Sylvia Clapper were taken into custody in North street last night on a charge of suspicion. Pending a further inquiry both were remanded to the city jail after Mayor Mayne questioned them in police court.

Ellwood District Scout Council Has Meeting On Tuesday

Vote To Continue Two Councils Until June 30 And Maintain Same Officers

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27.—Ellwood District Boy Scout Council held its regular meeting in the city building Tuesday night with a good turnout of members present.

The merger with Mercer County was fully discussed at this time, and in keeping with the action of the Lawrence County Council it was decided to continue as two separate councils with the original officers maintained, until June 30 when final action is expected on this matter.

Preliminary plans for Scout Anniversary Week on Feb. 8 were also discussed at this time.

Pupils Out Early For Thanksgiving

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27.—Pupils of all public schools in the Ellwood district are to be dismissed at 2:30 p. m. this afternoon in lieu of the nation-wide Thanksgiving Day observation tomorrow.

Studies will not be resumed by the students until next Monday, December 2, at the regularly-scheduled hour, giving the pupils and teachers a vacation period of four days' duration.

While the students are celebrating over their vacation the teachers are none the less joyous, for yesterday was pay day for all instructors. Their salaries were not to be paid until Friday, the monthly date, but, as the present vacation period extends over that time, the date was moved up several notches in the calendar.

Oyster Supper At W. Weil Home

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27.—One of the most enjoyable events of last evening took place at the home of Wilson Weils, of the Country Club Drive, when members of the Sunshine and Young Men's classes of the North Sewickley Presbyterian church gathered there for a social event.

Games and music were the popular diversions of the evening and at a late hour the group of forty were seated at prettily appointed tables where they were served a delicious oyster supper by Mrs. Walter Weils, assisted by Misses Clara and Elsie Pflugh.

Martha Caughey Called By Death

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27.—Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Caughey and family of Wurtemburg have been called to McKeesport by the illness and death of the former's aunt, Miss Martha Caughey, whose death occurred on Tuesday morning at her home following a lingering illness.

Miss Caughey, who had been an invalid for many years, was known in this vicinity, having visited at the home of her nephew at various times.

Funeral services will be held on Friday afternoon from the late home at McKeesport.

MRS. CHARLES COATES ENTERTAINS HER CLUB

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Charles Coates delightfully entertained members of the E. C. C. club at her home on the New Castle road yesterday afternoon.

An appetizing luncheon was served at 1 o'clock at one long table. The home was beautifully decorated in flowers with small dolls serving as appointments. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Fisher.

After dinner two tables of bridge were put in play with the high score awards going to Mrs. George C. Nicklas and Mrs. Hilliard Swick.

In two weeks the club will have a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Nicklas on the New Castle road.

MRS. RALPH EVANS IS CLUB HOSTESS

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Ralph Evans of Second street was hostess to the Tuesday Afternoon bridge club at her home here last night.

Three tables of bridge were in play during the evening with Mrs. Clifford McDanel and Mrs. Clarence Nelson winning the prize awards. Mrs. John Dunn, Jr., assisted the hostess in serving a dainty luncheon.

In two weeks Mrs. Dunn will entertain the club at her home on Second street.

ADULT CLASSES

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27.—On Friday evening members of the Ever-Ready and Brotherhood Bible classes of the North Sewickley Presbyterian church will entertain the members of the various other classes of the church at a social event.

Rev. Boyce Atwell, of the College Hill Presbyterian church, has been secured as the guest speaker for the program which will also include a number of other splendid numbers.

Ask For Bids For Township School

Perry Township Getting Ready To Erect Structure At Wurtemburg

Bids are now being taken by the Perry Township school board for the construction of a four-room building to be built at Wurtemburg, work upon which will be started in the near future.

The bids will be opened at a meeting on December 9 at 7 p. m. The building is to be erected with WPA funds. The architect is W. J. Stewart, Jr., of New Brighton.

Mass Celebrated This Morning For Thomas Joseph Cain

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27.—High requiem mass for Thomas Joseph Cain, of Crescent avenue, was celebrated in St. Agatha church this morning, with Rev. Fr. R. D. A. Wilkey, the pastor, officiating.

A large crowd of friends gathered for the rites. The pallbearers were Fred Laiben, Thomas Mulcahy, Robert Wilson, Frank Lemery, Samuel Luman and Mark Zehner. Interment was made in Locust Grove cemetery.

PARTY HONORS DALE WORKLEY

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27.—Dale Workley was the victim of a delightful surprise last evening when a group of friends gathered at his home at Wurtemburg "surprise fashion" to aid in celebrating the occasion of his 16th birthday anniversary, with 22 in attendance.

The hours passed quickly and were kept merry with a wide variety of games and contests holding the attention of everyone. At an appropriate hour a delicious luncheon featuring Thanksgiving appointments was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Gerald Workley.

The guest of honor was the recipient of an array of very nice and useful gifts as mementos of the happy occasion.

DINNER BRIDGE CLUB MEETS LAST EVENING

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27—Members of the Dinner Bridge club met at the home of Mrs. C. D. Ross on Ninth street last evening for a pleasant session of bridge.

Two tables of cards were in play with the resulting prize awarded to Mrs. Thomas A. Wilson. Refreshments were served by the hostess at a suitable hour.

Mrs. W. G. Thorpe of Ewing Park will be hostess to the club at her home December 17 for a Christmas party.

CLASS NO. 2 HAS MEETING TUESDAY

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27.—Class No. 2 of the Bell Memorial church met at the home of Mrs. Bertha Marion on Line avenue with 16 present, Tuesday evening. The devotions were in charge of Mrs. Matilda McFate.

After a short business meeting a delightful time was enjoyed. Luncheon was served later by the hostess with aid of Group No. 4.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY HAS SEWING SESSION

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27.—An all day sewing session was held by the Women's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church yesterday in the church rooms. Twenty were present for the occasion.

A luncheon was served at noon by the appointed committee after which all enjoyed a pleasant period of visiting and chats.

KNOX SERVICES

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27.—A special Thanksgiving service will be held at the Knox Presbyterian church this evening at 7:45. The message will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. R. E. Bell, and appropriate music will be contributed by the choir.

On Sunday evening at 7:45 members of the Women's Missionary Society of the church will hold their annual thank-offering services. They have secured Rev. and Mrs. George Supplee, of Zelienople, returned missionaries from Africa, as the speakers and they will also show steropticon slides of mission work. The public is invited to participate in both of these services.

HOSPITAL NOTES

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 27.—Discharged Tuesday: Mrs. Nock Perry and baby of Rosanna street, Mrs. Pete Taylor and baby of South Second street, Jerome Farrar of Westfield, N. Y.

Admitted: Mrs. Ralph Wimer of Ellwood R. D. 1, Arthur Whittaker of Spring avenue, Mr. and Mrs. William Milliard of New Castle R. D. 1.

Hope To Teach School Pupils Safe Driving

Survey Now Being Made To See How New Course Of Instruction Is Working

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 27.—Surveys are now under way to determine to what extent schools throughout the state are participating in the new course of study in, highway safety, it was revealed here by the Department of Revenue.

The course is sponsored by the State Department of Public Instruction in co-operation with the division of safety of the Revenue Department. It was planned as a result of a steadily increasing accident rate for youthful automobile drivers.

Pennsylvania is one of about a half dozen states sponsoring such a program. While the course is still in an embryonic stage here, several other states have made notable strides in the teaching of highway safety in public schools. New Jersey is a leader in the movement, and among others, New York, Connecticut and Illinois have instituted similar programs.

A series of teaching units has been prepared for use in Pennsylvania schools. Although the course is aimed primarily at pupils of regular high school classes, the material prepared can also be put to use in traffic study organizations, extension or night classes and similar groups.

As the course is being handled at the present time, a faculty member is selected to teach the class. As far as is known, no school as yet has a full-time teacher for the course, but in time it is hoped such an instructor will be available in all schools. Officials have suggested teachers invite leaders in the various phases of safety and motor vehicle programs to meet with the classes whenever possible.

In this way it is hoped to bring a decline in the number of traffic accidents, develop better drivers and enable young people to prepare better for the state motor vehicle examination.

Ten units comprise the course as it is being handled at present. Material for it is available to all traffic and schools groups as a portion of the Pennsylvania curriculum studies. The first unit takes up the cause of motor accidents, and successive units follow through the mechanism of the automobile, motor regulations and requirements for a driver's license.

While many schools throughout the state have applied for the material, little is known as to how many of them are using the course or in what way it is being handled. It is to find out these details, for the purpose of planning future activity in this field that the survey was undertaken.

PLEASE PASS THE CRANBERRIES!

Here is a picture taken on the eve of death. This fellow is condemned to die so America's appetite may be appeased on Thanksgiving Day. Anything to say, Turk? No, well then, give him the ax, John.

On Court House Hill

A. C. Shoaf, secretary of the New Castle Agricultural Association, expects a full meeting of the stockholders at the court house next Friday evening when six directors are to be elected.

County Commissioners have been asked for the use of a room at the court house for a meeting of the Pennsylvania Truckers Association on December 5th. The request was granted.

Thomas W. Hamilton, candidate for county treasurer; Frank E. Smith, candidate for supervisor in Shenango township and Joseph A. Ciotto, candidate for assessor in the eighth ward have filed expense accounts, showing that their expenses at the recent election were under fifty dollars each.

December term of quarter sessions court will convene on next Monday morning when the grand jury will report for duty. The list of cases for trial at the coming term of court is small, and there are no very serious cases on the docket. While the grand jury is in session the court will hear arguments in cases on the common pleas list.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts has been busy this week issuing hunting licenses to sportsmen who expect to go to northern tier counties in search of deer next Monday. There is likely to be the usual number of accidents during the deer hunting season, but this does not deter sportsmen who have visions of bringing home a big buck. So far this season a survey discloses that 87 hunters have been killed, most of them in the northern tier states with New York reporting the most fatalities. It's deer season which closed November 15th, cost the lives of 18 hunters. These statistics should be a warning to hunters to be careful.

County commissioners are sending out a letter to all the tax collectors of the county in which they state that the county controller has informed them that settlements of all delinquent taxes in their hands should be made with the county treasurer at once. The delinquent claims are from 1929 to January 1, 1934. Some of the tax collectors owe only a few dollars, some claims run into hundreds, and there are several over one thousand. The highest is for $1,319. It is desirable to have all these claims settled before the new officials go into office. The letter says that if prompt settlement is not made the commissioners will take action to collect.

Prothonotary R. M. Campbell has compiled a list of the school directors who were chosen in boroughs and townships at the recent election. The list is as follows: Bessemer, Chester A. Chaddock; Ellport, Carl O. Lerch and Mrs. Mary Biesecker; Ellwood City, Paul F. Luther; Enon, Raymond Hillman; New Wilmington, Harold Black; South New Castle, Harry Blesch, Volant, Edith Simpson; Wampum, Thomas Duff; Big Beaver township; C. H. McChesney; Hickory township, Frank Miller; Little Beaver township, S. M. Williams and Lloyd Burkey; Mahoning township, A. W. Navarra and James Calucci; Neshannock township, J. H. Gilfillan; North Beaver township, Mary E. Black; Perry township, Mildred P. Nye; Plaingrove township, Lewis Stevenson; Pulaski township, Lucian Black; Scott township, William West; Shenango township, G. E. Lawrence; Slippery Rock township, Audley McClymonds; Taylor township; Frank Schultz; Union township, Jack Shuler; Washington township, Thomas Martin; Wayne township, Roy P. Meehan and Ben Parker; Wilmington township, John Walker.

All of the directors are elected for six years with the exception of the districts in which two are named one of whom is elected for four years.

No Poultry Thefts Reports Received

State Troopers Patrol Roads To Keep Down Depredations

Although there usually is an outburst of poutry thefts in various sections of Lawrence and nearby counties at this time of year, state police on duty here today said they have not recently received reports of any in Lawrence county.

However, in the absence of such reports it does not mean they are not watching for thieves.

Instead they are, and each day and night troopers in automobiles patrol various roads in the hope of apprehending anyone who does steal poultry.

LATE HONEY BEE IS CAUSE OF CRASH

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 27.—This little honey bee hung around until mid-November, long enough to cause an automobile wreck that might easily have had more serious consequences.

George Davis, of Connecticut, and his daughter were driving along the highway near Harrisburg, when a bee, apparently seeking refuge from the cold, flew into the automobile. It buzzed dangerously close to Davis' head. He swung mightily at the insect with both hands.

INJURED MAN BLAMES HIMSELF

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 27.—Well, well, well, Mr. Diogenes.

"I walked into the side of his car," he said, "it's all my fault." The driver was released.

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged intestines or constipation.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help the intestines in a soothing, healing way. When the bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists. 15c, 30c and 60c.

For Bad Cough, Mix This Better Remedy, at Home

Needs No Cooking! Big Saving!

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this home mixture and try it for a distressing cough. It's no trouble to mix, and costs but a trifle, yet it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water for a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, put it into a pint bottle, and fill up with your sugar syrup. The pint thus made gives you four times as much cough remedy for your money, yet it is far more effective than ready-made medicine. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

This home-mixed remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It soothes the irritated membranes, loosens the phlegm, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, famous for its effect in stopping coughs quickly. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.
